Diamondback Executives

E.G. (Ken) Kendrick

Managing General Partner

A charter member of the ownership group that brought baseball to the Valley of the Sun, Ken's involvement in the general partnership took on added significance in 2004 when he assumed the rold of Managing General Partner. Kendrick has taken an active role within the organization, representing the ownership group in the day-to-day operation of the organization as the club attempts to return to the on-field success it enjoyed in the early years of the franchise. Kendrick also represents the Diamondbacks when Major League Baseball owners convene during the course of the year.

Prior to becoming a prominent figure in the Diamondbacks management team, Kendrick established himself in the business community as the Founder and Chairman of Datatel, Inc., in Fairfax, Virginia, the nation's leading provider of information management solutions for higher education. He is also the principal shareholder and Director of the Woodforest Financial Group, a bank holding company headquartered in The Woodlands, Texas, and Delta Card Services, a nationwide merchant credit card services provider. Ken is also a director of several other companies including iCrossing, Intellicommunities and Thompson-Center, as well as a partner in the Dodge Theatre.

Consistent with the charitable ways of the Diamondbacks organization, Ken is very active in his charity and philanthropic endeavors, beginning with his role as Chairman of the Diamondbacks Foundation. He is also President of the Datatel Scholars Foundation and Bumble Bee Ranch Foundations. He also serves as a director for various charities including the West Virginia University Foundation, Childhelp USA, Helping Hands Housing, Challenger Center for Space Science Education, Phoenix Country Day School, TGen Foundation, Cleveland Clinic Foundation and Roaring Fork Conservancy.

A native of Princeton, West Virginia, Ken graduated from West Virginia University in Morgantown, with a B.S. in Business Administration in 1965. He continues a strong allegiance to his alma mater, funding the video coaching facility and Hall of Tradition for the 2006 Sugar Bowl Champion Mountaineer football program. An avid golfer, Kendrick is a member of several clubs including Paradise Valley Country Club, The Estancia Club and the Whisper Rock Golf Club.

Ken and his wife, Randy, and their two children, Cal and Catie, make their home in Paradise Valley.

Mike Chipman

General Partner

Mike is one of the five general partners who possess the largest financial stake in the franchise, and while he takes a low-profile approach to his role, his business acumen is invaluable when the partners assemble to make executive decisions regarding the shaping of the Diamondbacks. He made a huge impact in the computer software industry as the inventor of TurboTax, the largest selling income tax software in the world.. A graduate from the U.S. Air Force Academy with a degree in Computer Science, Chipman spent five years in the basic research arm of the Air Force, attaining the rank of Captain before resigning his commission to pursue a career in civilian life.

He spent the next few years as a research scientist working in the area of computational physics, principally at Science Application International in La Jolla, CA. Mike then founded ChipSoft, Inc. in the early 80's where he produced the popular TurboTax software. ChipSoft grew from literally a spare room operation in the Chipmans' home to a 550-person Public Company by the time Mike retired at age 45.

Since retirement Chipman has invested in various businesses principally through an Investment Angels group. Mike has recently had a hand in the development of the highly successful Bank of Internet USA and has been involved as an investor with other banks in Northern Nevada. He has been an owner of commercial real estate in Arizona for more than a decade during which time he became one of the primary investors in the Diamondbacks.

Mike and his wife, Evy, make their home in Lake Tahoe, NV, where Mike has built a model railroad, complete with nearly 1,700 trees, a project that has kept him busier than he even imagined. The Chipmans spend a lot of "baseball time" locally in Paradise Valley after having wintered at Carefree for 10 years. Mike's son, Michael, and wife, Erin, are the parents of the first grandchild, Owen.

Dale Jensen

General Partner

Dale is the largest single investor of the Diamondbacks, a position in which he's very familiar since he is also an investor in over 45 other companies. His professional career began at the tender age of 23, serving as the youngest vice president of The National Bank of Commerce. After three years, Jensen co-founded Information Technology, revolutionizing the banking industry with computer software and solutions during the infancy of the computer era, later selling the company for $383 million in 1996. Among his subsequent holdings in technology and entertainment, Dale is among a quartet of principal investors in M101, a new entertainment entity that delivers high definition, highly produced visual content focused on music, as well as delving into film and television production branding.

A Nebraska native, Jensen's holdings also include Superior Shores Lodge in Two Harbors, MN, the Sands Hill Golf Club near Mullen, NE, Alice Cooper'stown Restaurant near Chase Field, Alive Spirits, a company that co-brands celebrities and liquor, the NBA's Phoenix Suns and the Dodge Theatre.

Jensen is also very active in a broad spectrum of philanthropy, not the least of which is donating money and time to find a cure for cystic fibrosis. A die-hard Cornhusker fan, Dale has also endowed numerous teaching chairs at the University of Nebraska, and has funded the acquisition of a new public park and school buildings bearing his name.

Dale and his wife, Vicki, make their home in Paradise Valley. He has a son, Christopher, who has followed him into the field of technology.

Jeffrey Moorad

General Partner

One of the most recognizable names in professional sports, Jeff Moorad brought over 20 years of sports industry experience to Arizona on August 6, 2004, when he was named a member of the executive team of the Diamondbacks. The career change was finalized when the Office of the Commissioner formally approved Moorad as an owner and General Partner in the Diamondbacks' ownership group. Armed with a wealth of experience in Major League Baseball on the player side of the table, Moorad is now the spokesman for the Diamondbacks' general partnership as well as overseeing along with Ken Kendrick the day-to-day operations of the franchise.

Moorad brings a unique perspective and sports business acumen to the Diamondbacks, and is committed to bringing the fans of Arizona a championship team and a consistent winning product. Equally important to Moorad, is the strong desire to build upon the organization's reputation in the community as positive and active leaders and contributors.

The founder of Moorad Sports Management, he began specializing in athlete representation in 1983, with his main focus on Major League Baseball. Moorad's reputation as a knowledgeable and respected negotiator has earned him a spot on The Sporting News' 100 Most Powerful People in Sports on eight occasions, as he helped revolutionize player representation.

Moorad's client base took off in 1984 when he was retained by Will Clark and four other members of the U.S. Olympic baseball team, each of whom were top ten draft choices. He then joined forces with Leigh Steinberg in 1985 to form one of the most dynamic twosomes in the history of sports representation, covering both Major League Baseball and the National Football League. The successful duo negotiated over $3 billion in athlete contracts throughout their 18 years together, including representing Hall of Famer Steve Young and newly-named Hall of Famer Troy Aikman.

Moorad was the negotiator on a number of landmark contracts for a client base that included Manny Ramirez, Eric Karros, Ivan Rodriguez, Mo Vaughn, and current Diamondbacks, Shawn Green and Luis Gonzalez, just to scratch the surface of All-Star talent he represented. He also represented former D'Back Matt Williams, who joined Will Clark in spring training with the Diamondbacks as on-field advisors. Moorad represented more than 40 first-round selections from baseball's annual First Year Player Draft in his practice, highlighted by breakthrough deals for No. 1 overall selections Pat Burrell (1998) and Darin Erstad (1995), both draft records at the time.

The former President and CEO of Moorad Sports Management, his firm did not stop at athlete representation as Moorad guided it into a variety of sports ventures, publishing projects and charitable community projects. Consistent with his civic commitment, Moorad helped his clients understand the responsibility of serving as role models in the community, encouraging them to contribute millions of dollars to community programs, including their own non-profit foundations and alma maters. Leading by example, Moorad endowed a $100,000 scholarship to his alma mater at UCLA.

While sports representation occupied the majority of Moorad's professional time, it also led to work in the entertainment field as he has consulted and appeared in major motion picture projects involving sports. Jeff was the baseball technical consultant for the Universal motion picture "For Love of the Game" and had a cameo appearance in the movie, and then he and former partner Steinberg both appeared in and served as technical consultants to director Cameron Crowe in the 1996 Oscar-winning picture "Jerry Maguire."

A native of Modesto, California, Moorad earned an Associate in Arts degree from Modesto Junior College in 1976, where he served as Student Body President, a degree in Political Science (B.A.) in 1978 from UCLA, then received his law degree from Villanova University School of Law (J.D.) in 1981. Jeff and his wife, Jan, have three sons and reside in Paradise Valley.

Jeff Royer

General Partner

Jeff's love for baseball began in his youth as a devoted fan of Warren Spahn, the record-setting lefthanded pitcher of the Milwaukee Braves. In the Wisconsin town where he grew up work schedules were often made around the Braves' game schedule. He learned at a young age that baseball would be his primary sports interest.

His business career began in investment banking. Since the late-1980's Jeff's work has focused on private equity investing. The primary focus of his business interests is telecommunications. His family is an original founding investor in the Arizona Diamondbacks, and Jeff's involvement has grown to become a member of the General Partnership.

Jeff, his wife, and family are all devotees of the game and spend as much time in Phoenix as possible. He makes his residence in Toronto, Ontario, Canada.

CHASE FIELD
HOME OF THE DIAMONDBACKS

Richard H. Dozer

President

Named team President on March 9, 1995, the energetic Rich Dozer has kept the family name prominent in Major League baseball circles. Raised in a baseball environment, his father Dick Dozer was a nationally renowned sportswriter, covering both the Chicago Cubs and White Sox for the Chicago Tribune. In taking advantage of every opportunity to spend time with his growing boy, Dick allowed his son to accompany him to spring training, where Rich lived out any young man's dream serving as a bat boy for each team.

The family aspect has not been lost on the younger Dozer, who has instilled that quality in all who have come aboard from other organizations. His unpretentious, open-door style has made the Diamondback front office one of the most comfortable and successful franchises in sports. He is passionate about his work and compassionate to those in the community, as evidenced by the '99 post-season when he invited Dwight Patterson to throw out the first pitch prior to the first-ever Division Series game played in Bank One Ballpark. Patterson, who lured the Chicago Cubs to the Valley over 50 years ago to start what is now the Cactus League, was one of the most popular sports figures in Arizona. Sadly, the ceremonial first pitch was one of Patterson's final great memories, as the Arizona legend passed away only three days later.

Dozer proved to be the ideal candidate for his current role after working for eight seasons with the Phoenix Suns. He joined the NBA franchise in July 1987 as business manager, and eventually ascended to Vice President and Chief Operating Officer by June of 1989. Responsibilities varied from accounting, finance, ticketing, office administration, insurance, and arena financing and operations. He was also the President of America West Arena and was intimately involved in that facility's development.

Dozer is a former Certified Public Accountant, specializing as an audit manager for clients in sports, hospitality and retail industries.

Though his responsibilities include running the entire business operations of the team and facility, fan comfort and enjoyment at Chase Field are among his highest priorities. Dozer is the force behind "town hall" type meetings with season ticket holders, giving them a forum to communicate any concerns or ideas they may have to make the experience more enjoyable during a Diamondbacks game. He also makes the call on opening or closing the roof on a daily basis. The daily timing of the roof closure is vital to ensure that enough sunlight reaches the grass to keep it growing, but also that the ballpark stays cool enough to allow the air conditioning to make the inside comfortable by game time. Dozer not only takes the playing conditions into consideration, but the building temperatures at all seating levels to ensure the comfort of the fans.

Dozer's role is not just about the team, but about community as well. He just finished chairing the $15 million capital campaign for Phoenix Children's Hospital to build a new NICU (Newborn Intensive Care Unit). He was the Chairman of the Valley-wide 2004 United Way Campaign, after serving as the 2000/2001 and 2001/2002 Chairman - Alexis de Tocqueville Society, Valley of the Sun United Way. Rich and his wife Karie co-chaired the $4 million capital campaign for United Cerebral Palsy of Central, AZ. In 2003, they celebrated the opening of the Laura Dozer Center, built to serve the needs of families whose children suffer from various disabilities.

He also serves on several boards, including Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation, Phoenix & Valley of the Sun Convention and Visitors Bureau, and the Goodwill Industries Honor Board. He is a member of Greater Phoenix Leadership, the Major League Baseball Enterprises Board of Directors and the Greater Phoenix Economic Council, where he serves as Treasurer. He is a life member of the Phoenix Thunderbirds, an arm of the Phoenix Chamber of Commerce that stages the FBR Open each year, one of the top attended single sporting events in the country, and he's also a member of the Phoenix Civic Plaza - Strategic Planning Task Force. He's also on the board of the YMCA, the Dean's Council of 100 for the Arizona State University College of Business, the Arizona Tourism Alliance and the Phoenix Community Alliance.

He possesses a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration from the University of Arizona, graduating in 1979. Rich has a 14-year old daughter, Danielle, and he and his wife Karie have a seven-year old daughter, Laura Grace, and two-year old son, Jack.

They make their home in Phoenix.

Josh Byrnes

Senior Vice President/ General Manager

After a successful three-year stint as the Assistant General Manager of the Boston Red Sox, Josh Byrnes was named Senior Vice President and General Manager of the Diamondbacks on October 28, 2005. Josh became just the second general manager in Arizona's history, following Joe Garagiola, Jr., who left the club after 10 years of service for the position of Senior Vice President of Baseball Operations with Major League Baseball.

In his time with Boston, Byrnes was involved in all facets of the club's baseball operations, including personnel decisions, negotiations, scouting operations and player development. He teamed with General Manager Theo Epstein in leading the storied franchise to three consecutive post-season appearances, highlighted by the World Series crown in 2004 that ended the club's 86-year championship drought. Success on the field has followed Josh throughout his front office career in the Major Leagues, with the 2005 season marking the eighth playoff club he's been involved with over 12 seasons, including a trio of World Series appearances.

Byrnes arrived in Boston in December, 2002, after spending three years as the Senior Director/Baseball Operations and Assistant General Manager of the Colorado Rockies, joining the Rockies after the 1999 season. While in Colorado, he not only assisted General Manager Dan O'Dowd and the Baseball Operations department, he also oversaw the farm and scouting departments. Byrnes began his Major League front office career in 1994 with the Cleveland Indians, where he was instrumental in implementing the club's video advance scouting system, followed by a two-year stint (1995-96) as the club's advance scout. He was named the Assistant Director of Scouting in 1996, and then was promoted to Director of Scouting in 1998.

Byrnes graduated from Haverford College in 1992, where he captained the winningest baseball team in school history. He and his wife, Charity, have a daughter, Avery.

Bob Gebhard

Vice President/ Special Assistant to the General Manager

Bob Gebhard had a busy first year in the Diamondbacks' front office. When Joe Garagiola, Jr. left in August to take a position with Major League Baseball, Gebhard was selected to serve as the Diamondbacks' interim General Manager until the hiring of Josh Byrnes in late October.

Bob joined the Diamonbacks prior to the '05 season as Vice President/Assistant General Manager. He was coming off a five-season stint in a similar position with the St. Louis Cardinals, working closely with Walt Jocketty on the club's day-to-day Major League operations including player evaluations and contract negotiations.

None of those roles were new to Gebhard, who was on the ground floor of the Colorado Rockies' franchise, joining the club in the winter of 1991 and building the entire baseball operations department from scratch. His efforts were rewarded with Colorado's lone playoff appearance only three years into its existence in 1995, winning the National League's first-ever Wild Card spot on the final day of the season. Among his early successes in Colorado included the signing of veteran Andres Galarraga to a free agent contract the day before the 1992 Expansion Draft, then engineering a trade for slugging outfielder Dante Bichette immediately following the draft, with the twosome eventually comprising half of the famed Blake Street Bombers. Gebhard and his staff were so thoroughly prepared for the Expansion Draft that six members of the 1995 Division Series playoff squad still remained when the Rockies played the Atlanta Braves.

Geb joined the Rockies after a successful stint in Minnesota's front office, joining the Twins as their Director of Major League Personnel in 1987 then assuming the role of Vice President/Player Personnel the following year. His first and last year with Minnesota culminated in a pair of World Series rings, as the Twins knocked off the Cardinals in 1987 and the Braves in 1991.

Gebhard had an 11-year playing career as a pitcher that included big league duty with both the Twins and Montreal Expos. He was a player/coach in the Montreal chain from 1974-75, then was promoted to Minor League Field Director and pitching coach in 1976, a role he held for six seasons. Gebhard was part of Montreal's big league coaching staff in 1982, then served as Director of Minor League Operations through 1986. He then joined the Twins, the organization that selected him in the 15th round of the first June draft in 1965.

A native of Lamberton, MN, Gebhard earned 16 letters in four sports in high school. His athletic career shifted to the University of Iowa, where he co-captained the baseball team and also played basketball.

Gebhard and his wife, Nancy, have three children, daughters Angie and Jenny, and son, Casey. They also have four grandchildren. The Gebhard's still make their home in Littleton, CO.

Peter Woodfork

Assistant General Manager

A native of Massachusetts, Peter Woodfork made his way west at the end of November when he was named Assistant General Manager of the Diamondbacks. He has been tabbed to assist Josh Byrnes in all phases of baseball operations including scouting, contract negotiations and Minor League player development.

Woodfork comes to Arizona by way of the Boston Red Sox, where he served for three seasons as Director of Baseball Operations and Assistant Director of Player Development. In that capacity, Peter played a key role in signing players, salary arbitration and monitoring league rules. Before joining the Red Sox, Peter spent three years in the Office of the Commissioner, working in Major League Baseball's Labor Relations Department. While there, he worked with the baseball operations departments of all teams, assisting them with the interpretation of the Collective Bargaining Agreement and advising them of upcoming deadlines. Peter also took part in the creation of the 2004-2006 Basic Agreement between the Players Union and Major League Baseball.

Peter is a 1999 graduate of Harvard University, where he earned a degree in psychology and started in the infield for the Crimson baseball team, which won three Ivy League championships in his four seasons. Peter is single and resides in Phoenix.

Mike Rizzo

Vice President of Scouting

In his seventh season with the Diamondbacks, Mike has been given the designation of Vice President of Scouting Operations, reporting to new Sr. Vice President and General Manager Josh Byrnes. This promotion comes following a year in which the team was named "Organization of the Year" by Topps. The honor is presented based on the number of players who received Topps awards during the season. In 2005 the Diamondbacks had eight minor league players honored with individual awards and/or designations to their leagues' All-Star teams.

In his career with Arizona, Mike has been responsible for the drafting of key players such as Brandon Webb (Baseball America's Rookie of the Year and a member of Topps' Rookie All-Star team, both in 2003), Chad Tracy (named by the local BBWAA chapter as 2004 Diamondbacks Rookie of the Year and a member of the 2004 Topps Rookie All-Star team) and Justin Upton (number one draft pick in 2005). In 2006, Rizzo will continue to travel the globe in his efforts to procure talent that will hopefully find its way to Chase Field.

Responsible for all facets of scouting, including draft strategy and selections in the June First-Year Player Draft, Rizzo operates a department of 46 while also controlling the scouting operations budget. Scouting has no off-season as Mike spends part of his winter in the Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Mexico, Panama, Venezuela and the United States, in addition to attending the Caribbean World Series.

The 2006 season is Mike's 24th in pro ball, a career that began with a four-year stint as a minor league player in the Angels' system. Once his playing career ended, he served as an assistant coach at the University of Illinois while completing his Bachelor of Arts in Communications. The Illinois-native began his professional scouting career with the Chicago White Sox, where he served as Midwest and Southeast territorial scout, during which time he inked future two-time American League MVP Frank Thomas. Rizzo's stint with the White Sox was followed by a six-year stay with the Boston Red Sox, where his responsibilities included area supervisor, international scout and major league advance scout.

He first arrived in the Valley in 1998, serving the Diamondbacks as Central region supervisor prior to his promotion to Director. In his five years overseeing the scouting department, Rizzo has placed an emphasis on drafting players with collegiate baseball experience. Of the first 20 draft picks in each of his first five drafts, Rizzo and his staff have successfully made 91% (91 of 100) part of the organization. Following the 2004 draft, Mike and his staff inked contracts with 26 of the first 30 players selected by the club. Among the players drafted under Mike's regime was pitcher Brandon Webb, who was named Baseball America's 2003 Rookie of the Year.

Mike was raised in Chicago, lettering in baseball, basketball and football at Holy Cross High School. He and his wife, Sheilah, have a son, Michael Jr. (2/15/90), and make their home in Scottsdale.

Jerry Dipoto

Director of Professional Scouting

A new addition to the scouting department, Jerry Dipoto was named to his post of Director of Professional Scouting on November 1 and will oversee all aspects of pro scouting, including the evaluation of major and minor league talent. Dipoto came to Arizona after serving a full year in the same capacity for the Colorado Rockies following his two years in the scouting department for the Boston Red Sox.

In his eight-year Major League career, Jerry pitched in 390 games, all in relief, posting a 27-25 record with 49 saves and a 4.05 ERA in his 495.1 innings. The righthander began his big-league career with Cleveland in 1993 and spent two seasons with the Indians before a two-year stint with the New York Mets. His final four years came as a member of the Rockies before he was forced to retire due to a bulging disc in his neck in the spring of 2001.

Dipoto, his wife Tamie, their daughters Taylor (13) and Jordan (11) and son Jonah (9) reside in Fountain Hills.

A.J. Hinch

Manager of Minor League Operations

Joining the Diamondbacks during the off-season, A.J. Hinch will begin his career after playing baseball as the Manager of Minor League Operations. He is responsible for a variety of duties, including the coordination between the club's minor league general managers, field managers, coaches and trainers. He will spend some of his time traveling to Arizona's six minor league team as well as its academy in the Dominican Republic to ensure that the players are receiving the instruction they need to develop at every level.

Following four successful years playing for Stanford University, Hinch's professional career began in the Oakland chain after being drafted in June 1996. His Major League debut came with the Athletics in 1998 and the catcher played in parts of eight seasons in the big-leagues, the last two seasons spent in the Philadelphia Phillies organization. He appeared in a total of 350 Major League games, hitting 32 home runs and driving in 112 runs while sporting a fielding percentage of .987 behind the plate.

A.J. and his wife, Erin, reside in Scottsdale with their daughters, Haley (3) and Kaitlin (1).

Chad MacDonald

Assistant Director of Scouting

Chad begins his ninth year in scouting and first year with the Diamondbacks as the Assistant Director of Scouting.

Chad came to Arizona after spending the past three seasons as a scout for the Los Angeles Angels. Prior to his stint with the Angels, he worked for three years in the Cleveland Indians organization, where he worked alongside Diamondbacks' Senior Vice President and General Manager Josh Byrnes. Chad left his mark on both organizations being named the Topps' Scout of the Month during the 2001 and 2005 seasons.

Chad got an early start working at the Major League level. He worked as a batboy for the Texas Rangers while in high school and during his collegiate years pitched batting practice and charted pitchers for Bobby Valentine's Rangers clubs.

Chad played Division I college baseball for Hardin-Simmons and Winthrop University. A three-sport athlete in high school, Chad also played football and basketball at Arlington-Lamar High School (TX).

Away from the ballpark, Chad speaks at youth baseball camps and clinics, teaching kids the fundamentals of baseball.

He and his wife, Julie, have two children, Caden and Cort, and make their home in Chandler.

Jim Cassandro

Director of Research, Baseball Operations

This is Jim's second full season in the Diamondbacks front office. He is responsible for the development of statistical information that is used to assist the Baseball Operations department in various ways. While Jim's primary responsibility is in the analysis of pro and amateur player performance, he also plays an important role in the arbitration process, contributes statistical information and research designed for the amateur draft, provides research support for negotiations, and writes a monthly column for Diamondbacks Magazine. Jim also lends his expertise to other departments within the front office.

Prior to receiving his Ph.D. from the University of California, Davis in 2001, Jim spent several years conducting psychological research. His work at U.C. Davis led to the position of Assistant Professor at the International Center for Studies in Creativity in Buffalo and then to the University of Arizona, where he taught research methodology and statistics through the spring of 2004. Jim is also a graduate of Major League Baseball's Scout Development Program.

Jim and his wife, Holly, have two sons, Zachary and Casey, and make their home in Phoenix.

Roger Riley

Senior Director of Team Travel

Roger is in his eighth season with the Diamondbacks, beginning as the Director of Team Travel in the winter of 1997, then adding the duties of Clubhouse Manager prior to the World Series season of 2001. As if being a member of a World Championship wasn't enough, he capped that year by earning the 2001 Traveling Secretary of the Year award, as voted by his peers in Major League baseball. Aside from his regular duties on the road, he assists baseball operations when the needs arise regarding player transactions and computer work.

Roger doesn't have much of an "off-season" as evidenced by his departure for the MLB clubhouse manager meetings just 72 hours after the Diamondbacks won the World Series title in 2001. He spends the majority of the winter signing hotel and charter aircraft contracts for the upcoming year. As the season commences he arranges for ground transportation in each city and makes sure the hotel is prepared for the team's arrival with room keys in hand, regardless of the hour. Roger also handles player ticket requests both at home and on the road.

His role with the Diamondbacks includes work on the schedule, and making sure that game times both at home and on the road are within the guidelines of Major League Baseball. Riley also works on the exhibition schedule with other Cactus League clubs and coordinates the travel plans for all players and staff members as they prepare for the six-week stay in Tucson.

Baseball was far from uncharted territory for Riley, who played college ball at the University of Kansas. It was there he began working as a statistician, and spent 19 years with a variety of network television assignments, including the Bowl Championship Series title game in the Sugar Bowl in 2000. Upon joining the Padres in 1990, Roger was the Assistant Director of Media Relations, then for two seasons worked as both the Director of Media Relations and the Travel Director. He departed from the media chair after the '96 season and combined his travel responsibilities with Baseball Administration, working with the General Manager.

He and his wife, Donna, have three daughters, Taylor, Shannon and Ashley, and two grandsons, and make their home in Chandler. Roger is an advisory member of the Sherriff's Youth Assistance Foundation.

Mike Swanson

Senior Director of Public Relations

Simply known as "Swanee," the 2006 season is Mike's 28th in major league baseball. In 2002, he earned the prestigious Robert O. Fishel Award for Public Relations Excellence. The award, named after the long-time baseball executive, goes to the "Active, non-uniformed representative of Major League Baseball whose ethics, character, dedication, service, professionalism and humanitarianism best represents the standards propounded by Robert O. Fishel." The honor came a year after working for his first-ever World Series champion, and two years after serving as the Public Relations liason for the MLB All-Star squad that played an eight-game series in Japan in November, 2000.

The Diamondbacks are the second straight franchise start-up for Swanson, who had a similar experience with the Colorado Rockies, joining that organization in 1992, a year before they played their first game in the National League. After six years with the Rockies, Swanee joined Arizona immediately following the '97 season. He has also worked in the Public Relations departments for the Kansas City Royals and San Diego Padres.

Though baseball is his passion, Swanson has had the opportunity to be involved in all sports throughout his life. His mother, the late Betty Swanson, worked for both the Kansas City Athletics and Chiefs over a 36-year span, and oftentimes had the younger Swanson tagging along, working in the equipment rooms for both franchises, and traveling with the Chiefs during their glory years of the early 70's.

Around his baseball career, Swanee has also served as a statistician, starting in 1977 with Keith Jackson on college football and evolving into stints with Monday Night Football, and the sharing of booth space with some of the top announcers in sports. He was recruited to join CBS Sports when current Suns' announcer Gary Bender was calling the play-by-play for NCAA Basketball. All totaled his statistical resume featured six Final Fours, six Super Bowls, four NFC Championship Games, five Sugar Bowls and six Cotton Bowls.

Swanson, 51, his wife Renee, seven-year old daughter Rachel, and their yellow lab Rocky reside in Chandler.

She supervised ticketing for Arizona State's 1987 Rose Bowl appearance, the 1992 NBA All-Star Game, the 1993 NBA Finals and the opening of the USAirways Center.

Born in Phoenix and a graduate of both Tempe High School and Arizona State University, her ticketing career began in the Athletic Ticket Office of ASU during her days as a student in 1976. In 1990, Dianne was named ticket manager for the Phoenix Suns and was later named Director of Ticket Operations for the move to America West Arena. One of her monumental tasks was determining seating assignments for season ticket holders from Veterans Memorial Coliseum into the new facility. This was a skill that came in handy during the seat selection process for the opening of Bank One Ballpark.

Dianne's favorite sport, baseball, was the one she had not worked and she jumped at the chance to join the Diamondbacks as V.P. of Ticket Operations and Special Services. Her responsibilities include supervision of all ticketing, the luxury suites at Chase Field, guest services, working with the ADA (American Disabilities Act) to ensure the stadium is handicap accessible and overseeing the Tours Department.

Prior to joining KB Home, Hall was Senior Vice President of Communications for the Los Angeles Dodgers, a position he had held since December of 1999. Considered an industry-wide specialist in strategic public relations, Hall spent a great deal of time with image building, media training, brand promoting, proactive pitching and crisis management, and taught sports public relations at the University of Southern California. Hall originally joined the Dodgers in 1992 and worked in several capacities for the club's Single-A Florida State League affiliate in Vero Beach, FL. In addition to his early-morning routine, Hall hosted the pregame show, "Dodger Game Day" on 1150 AM when the team played at home. He also was in front of the camera as a fill-in sports anchor at KNBC-TV Channel 4 in Los Angeles beginning in August 1999, a position he relinquished upon rejoining the Dodgers.

Scott Geyer

Vice President of Broadcasting

Scott's endless hours of work began in 1995 as he prepared the organization for its live television productions, as well as provided design insight into the construction of Chase Field from the media point of view. The Diamondbacks had the right man providing that information, as Geyer is in his 25th year of sports television, serving the club as the Director for each game telecast throughout the year.

Prior to his move to the Diamondbacks, Geyer spent 10 years as Producer/Director of the Phoenix Suns television package, while also managing the production and post-production division of America West Arena since it opened in 1992. His baseball television resume includes directing a major league package for FOX Sports Net and a five-year stint directing AAA baseball in the Valley in the 1980's.

He was promoted to Director of Sales in 1997 and held that position until his most recent ascension.

A veteran of 20 years of event sales experience, Kiese was no stranger to the Phoenix sports scene prior to joining the Diamondbacks, making the move to the Valley from Houston in 1984 and joining the Phoenix Suns as a sales representative. He was promoted to sales manager in 1985 and stayed with the NBA franchise until joining the then Phoenix Cardinals as Director of Sales in 1989, working there through the 1992 season.

He and his wife, Bobbi, who is an attorney in the Valley, make their home in central Phoenix. Age: 44 (Turns 45 on October 28)

Born: October 28, 1961 in Palo Alto, CA

Residence: Cave Creek, AZ

Former Position: Catcher

SECOND PLACE IN YEAR ONE—Bob was named manager of the Diamondbacks on November 5, 2004, and his first year at the helm in Arizona witnessed a 77-85 ledger, good for second place, five games behind the National League West-winning Padres...the win total was a 26-game turnaround from the 2004 club that had posted only 51 victories prior to BoMel's arrival...the '05 crew scuffled on the home front, going 36-45 in Chase Field, while posting a solid 41-40 ledger away from home...last year's squad played particularly well within the West, going 41-32 in intra-division play, the best record among National League West clubs...he raised his managerial ejection total to an even dozen with five early departures during his initial season as the Diamondbacks' skipper after being tossed seven times during his stint with Seattle.

MANAGING/COACHING CAREER—Bob returned to Arizona after a two-year stint as the skipper of the Seattle Mariners...the 44-year old Melvin is no stranger to the third base dugout in Chase Field after serving as Bob Brenly's bench coach during the 2001-2002 seasons, each year culminating in a Western Division title, including the World Series crown in '01...the 12th manager in Mariner history, Melvin posted a 156-168 record in his two seasons at the helm, highlighted by a 93-69 ledger during his rookie managerial campaign of 2003, shattering the team record for wins by a first-year Mariner manager, eclipsing Lou Piniella's 1993 mark of 82-80...Bob's 93 wins tied for the 15th most by any rookie manager in Major League history...he put his first career win in the books on April 3, 2003, in Oakland, a 7-6 triumph in 11 innings...similar to the circumstances that hampered the Diamondbacks in 2004, Melvin's Mariners lost an uphill battle with the injury bug during the same season and finished the campaign with a 63-99 mark...prior to his first stint with Arizona in 2001, he spent a pair of seasons alongside manager Phil Garner, first with Milwaukee in 1999, then in 2000 when Garner was hired in Detroit...Melvin's playing career ended with the 1994 season and after taking a year off he began working as a scout for the Brewers in 1996...he followed as a roving instructor in '97, then was the assistant to general manager Sal Bando for a season before putting the uniform on again as Garner's bench coach...Mel's first managerial experience came in 1999 when he skippered Maryvale in the Arizona Fall League.

ANOTHER RECEIVER TURNED SKIPPER—Bob is one of 12 current managers who have catching on their resume from their playing days...former full-time catchers who now manage in the Majors include Melvin, Bruce Bochy, John Gibbons, Mike Scioscia, Joe Torre, Eric Wedge and Ned Yost, while Clint Hurdle (22 games) and Ken Macha (4 games) each had minimal receiving experience...three other managers, Jim Leyland, Grady Little and Joe Maddon, each hired over the winter, were minor league catchers prior to becoming coaches and eventually managers.

In The Clubhouse

Ken Crenshaw
Head Athletic Trainer

Ken joined the Diamondbacks over the winter after a 10-year stint with the Tampa Bay Devil Rays, the last three of which were as the Major League head athletic trainer. The 2005 Rays medical staff was voted Major League Training Staff of the Year by their peers, the Professional Athletic Trainers Association (PBATS). The previous year in 2004, Crenshaw's staff earned the distinction of Medical Staff-of-the-Year by Baseball Prospectus.

Prior to his promotion as the head athletic trainer for the Rays, Ken spent five seasons as the assistant Major League trainer. Before the Devil Rays fielded a big league club in 1998, Crenshaw worked for two years with the organization's minor league players on strength training, conditioning, proper nutrition and injury rehabilitation coordination.

Crenshaw's professional baseball training experience also featured a four-year stint as the strength and conditioning coordinator with the Atlanta Braves, and three seasons as an athletic trainer in the Pittsburgh Pirates' chain.

Ken's arrival in Arizona is somewhat of a homecoming for the native of Carrizozo, NM, graduating from nearby New Mexico State University with a degree in sports medicine. He is a certified member of the National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA) and the National Strength and Conditioning Association (NSCA).

He and his wife, Robyn, have three sons, Wacy (12/16/97), Wyatt (4/21/00) and Dustin (11/12/01).

Dave Edwards
Assistant Athletic Trainer

Dave is in his ninth season as the assistant athletic trainer with the Major League club, though he's one of the organization originals, working for a pair of minor league seasons. The 41-year old's baseball training career started in the Arizona chain in 1996 for the Rookie League entry, then it was on to High Desert, working for the California League champs in 1997. Edwards' bilingual skills are a terrific asset in the training room, eliminating any potential medical communication difficulties with Spanish speaking players, as well as serving part-time as an interpreter.

A native of Deming, NM, Edwards received a degree in athletic training from New Mexico State University in 1988. During his final days at New Mexico State, Dave began plying his trade in pro baseball with Pocatello and Everett in the Giants' chain from 1987-90. He earned his Master's in athletic training from the University of Nevada in 1991, then returned to the Valley as the head athletic trainer at Grand Canyon University from 1991-96. He was also the assistant trainer for three seasons for the Arizona Rattlers of the Arena Football League.

Dave is single and makes his home in Scottsdale.

Nate Shaw
Strength and Conditioning Coordinator

The 2006 season is Nate's first as a Major League strength and conditioning coordinator. He joined the Diamondbacks over the winter after a threer-year stint in the Tampa Bay Devil Rays' organization, the last two as the minor league strength and conditioning coordinator. He spent his first two seasons in the Rays' chain as their New York Penn League athletic trainer and strength coach. While with the Devil Rays, Shaw was responsible for inplementing data based research to further develop programs and procedures in accordance with injury prevention and performance enhancement.

Nate started his work in professional sports by spending two years (2001-2002) with the Toronto Blue Jays during their spring training session in Dunedin, FL. He also co-founded the GHFC Sports Performance Program, implementing all key facets of the operation including marketing, sales and program design.

Shaw, 31, graduated third in his class from the University of Florida in 2001 with a Bachelors Degree in Exercise and Sport Sciences, while also working with the Gators football team.

He is single and makes his home in the Valley.

Dr. Michael Lee
Head Team Physician

Dr. Lee is in his sixth full season as the Head Team Physician after assisting the organization with its orthopedic needs for five years. In his current role, Dr. Lee oversees a support team of orthopedists and primary care physicians to provide whole-spectrum medical care to the entire Diamondbacks organization. Though vital in-season when injuries and orthopedic needs arise, Dr. Lee and his fellow physicians are also busy in the winter months providing follow-up exams with players, as well as giving thorough physical examinations to new acquisitions. He is board certified in orthopedic surgery and is an active member of the Major League Baseball Team Physicians Association.

He had previously taken care of other major league clubs, as well as serving as orthopedic consultant to the Arizona State University sports teams. Dr. Lee grew up in Phoenix, then graduated from the University of California-San Diego and attended the University of Arizona, where he completed Master's coursework in Exercise Physiology, graduating from the College of Medicine with honors in 1988. He completed his orthopedic residency at the University of Kansas, then was awarded a Sports Medicine fellowship with the University of Illinois School of Medicine.

Dr. Lee returned to Phoenix over a decade ago with his wife, Martha, and three children, Conor (24), Allison (22) and Brendan (21).

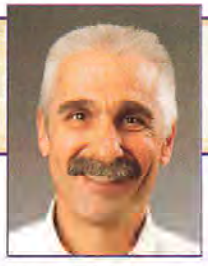
Team Physician

Roger L. McCoy, M.D., has been part of the Diamondbacks' family since the organization's start-up, working with the minor leaguers prior to the opening of the 1998 Major League season. He is a Board Certified Family Physician with special training in sports medicine. After graduating from Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, he received his master's degree in anatomy as well as his medical degree from Wright State University in Dayton, Ohio. While completing his family practice residency in Toledo, he served as a team physician for the University of Toledo and a couple of local high schools for three years.

Dr. McCoy was honored as the Sports Medicine Fellow at Michigan State University where he served as team physician and a faculty member teaching and developing course work at the medical school.

Aside from his responsibilities with the Diamondbacks, he is also team physician for Arizona State University, a published author in sports medicine literature and a member of the American Medical Society for Sports Medicine.



Greg Latta
Head Minor League Trainer/Rehabilitation Coordinator

Greg joined the Diamondbacks at the end of the 2000 season as the club's coordinator of rehabilitation and minor league head trainer. Working out of the Tucson complex, the 46-year old Latta supervises the trainers for the Diamondbacks' six farm teams and is available year-round to oversee the rehabilitation of any and all injured players.

After graduating from Western Michigan University in 1982, Greg took his degree in education and went in another direction, being hired by the White Sox and assigned to their AA team in Glens Falls, NY. He moved up to AAA in 1985 and through 1997 made stops in Buffalo, Hawaii, Vancouver and Nashville before making his way to Tucson and settling in as the minor league head trainer and rehab coordinator for the Sox.

Greg and his wife, Sue, and son, Nicholas, make their home in Tucson.

Bob Doty
Visiting Clubhouse/Equipment Manager

Raised in San Diego, Bob made a tough decision but made the move to Arizona in the winter prior to the 1998 season, assuming the same role he held in the Padres' organization for a dozen seasons. Adept in all phases of the equipment operation, Doty is also in charge of ordering and stocking equipment for the major league and minor league clubs. He joined the Diamondbacks after a 20-year stay in his hometown with the Padres.

The role of the visiting clubhouse attendant is an all-encompassing position including unpacking each team when their equipment arrives at Bank One Ballpark, regardless of the time of day, while also cleaning all of the uniforms and making sure the clubhouse is properly catered for the visiting players.

A graduate of University High School in San Diego, Bob and his wife Angie have a pair of daughters, Lauren and Sarah, and make their home in Phoenix.

Allen, who will spend the majority of the season traveling, started his career with the organization as a staff assistant in the front office.

Currigan has been with the D'Backs since their inception, but in 2001 assumed his new role as video coordinator. An original member of the field staff, Jeff has been with the Diamondbacks since their inception in 1998. He throws batting practice every day, then puts the gear on and heads to the bullpen where he warms up pitchers during the contest. He became one of the more publicized BP pitchers in 2001 when he was the pitcher in the All-Star Home Run Derby won by Diamondback Luis Gonzalez. Formerly a catcher in the Yankees' chain, Jeff was a 13th round pick of New York in 1990 after earning All-American status at Nashua (NH) High School. Jeff and his wife, Crystal, make their home in Phoenix.

He joined the organization in 2004, spending 2 years in the outreach and development department, before joining the big league support staff last year. His work does not stop at charting and throwing B.P., as Smith also assists the Baseball Operations department, working with minor league operations and scouting.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

2004—Craig joined Milwaukee as part of an 8-player trade the previous December, and was the only member of the deal who experienced a homecoming, returning to the city in which he was raised when his father worked in the Brewers' front office...he was the Opening Day starting shortstop and appeared in 140 games overall...his .983 fielding percentage ranked fifth among National League shortstops, committing only 9 errors...he established a Milwaukee record by reaching base via catcher's interference 6 times, missing the National League mark of 7 held by Pittsburgh's Dale Berra in 1983 and the Major League record of 8 set by Roberto Kelly with the Yankees in 1992...he had 2 singles in the third inning on September 6 at Pittsburgh joining Keith Ginter as the only Brewers with 2 hits in an inning in 2004. 2003—Craig suffered a dislocated right thumb on May 6 that sidelined him until early-July after which his offensive numbers suffered...coming off of season-ending neck surgery from the year before, Counsell dislocated his thumb while breaking up a double play on May 6 against the Phils...he underwent surgery on May 8 by Dr. Don Sheridan to repair the ligament damage...he and wife, Michelle, welcomed their first child, son Brady Michael, on May 3, then Craig arrived at the park in time to go 2-for-3 with 2 walks vs. Atlanta...he hit a game-opening homer off of the Rockies' Denny Neagle on July 8, his first career regular season blast off of a southpaw (he homered off of Cardinal lefty Mike Matthews in Game #3 of the 2001 Division Series on October 12 in St. Louis). 2002—Craig missed the last 7 weeks of the regular season and post-season play due to a herniated disk in his neck that required surgery on September 18 by Dr. Drew Dossett in Dallas, TX, the same surgeon that repaired fellow Notre Dame alum Raghib Ismail of the Dallas Cowboys...Craig began experiencing numbness in his right arm on August 9, the day after making a diving catch on a Henry Blanco line shot in the second inning of a game against the Braves...he hit .364 with runners in scoring position (40-for-110) which was third best in the N.L. at the time his season ended, highlighted by a .413 mark (26-for-63) with less than 2 out in the inning...he tied a team record with 5 hits against the Dodgers on May 26...he hit a ninth inning game-tying pinch homer off of the Mets' Armando Benitez in the first game of the August 3 doubleheader, a contest the D'Backs wound up winning 8-5 in 10 innings en route to a 4-game sweep...it was Counsell's first pinch hit at bat of the season and his first-ever pinch homer in 73 career at bats. 2001—He hit safely in 25 straight starts from August 28-October 4...the stretch began with a career-high 12-game hitting streak which was snapped when he struck out after entering a game on September 17 defensively...back in the starting lineup the next night, he began a 13-game hitting streak...he started 124 games, including 56 at short, 46 at second and 22 at third, committing only 8 errors all year...Craig's extensive playing time was directly attributed to his work as a leadoff hitter, batting .300 (71-for-237).

2001 POST-SEASON HIGHLIGHTS—Craig played in 16 of Arizona's 17 games...he closed out the 1997 Fall Classic by scoring the winning run for Florida in the 11th inning of Game #7 vs. the Indians, then in his next World Series plate appearance 4 years later, he scored Arizona's first run in its World Series by homering in the first inning of Game #1 off the Yanks' Mike Mussina...he tied a 95-year old World Series record with sacrifice bunts in his first 3 plate appearances in Game #4 at New York, matching Joe Tinker's performance with the Cubs in the 1906 series...Counsell was also in the middle of the title-clinching heroics in the ninth inning of Game #7, getting hit by a Mariano Rivera pitch to load the bases ahead of Luis Gonzalez's series-ending hit...Craig was named the MVP of the NLCS vs. Atlanta, hitting .381 (8-for-21) with 5 runs, 3 doubles and 4 RBI...he had back-to-back 3-hit efforts in games 3 and 4 at Turner Field, including 2 doubles and 4 RBI in the 11-4 triumph that gave the D'Backs a 3-1 series lead...Counsell hit .188 in the NLDS against the Cardinals, but one of the hits provided the margin of victory for the D'Backs in Game #3 at Busch Stadium, a 2-out, 3-run home run off of lefthander Mike Matthews that staked Arizona to a 5-3 lead. 2000—Craig was released by the Dodgers in spring training and signed a minor league contract with Arizona on March 20...he hit .348 with Tucson (AAA) before his contract was purchased on May 31...he was the first Diamondback in franchise history to reach on catcher's interference when he made contact with Colorado catcher Ben Petrick to begin the game on September 25 in Coors Field. 1999—Counsell opened the year with Florida, but hit just .152 in 37 games and was traded to the Dodgers on June 15, the 7th member of the '97 World Champion Marlins to become a Dodger (Kevin Brown, Bobby Bonilla, Jim Eisenreich, Gary Sheffield, Devon White and Charles Johnson). 1998—Craig started the year in the majors for the first time in his career, but had his season cut halted on August 3 when he was hit by a pitch from Houston's C.J. Nitkowski, causing a compound displaced fracture of his jaw bone...Craig underwent surgery at Holy Cross Hospital in Fort Lauderdale repairing several lacerations while having his jaw bone internally stabilized by Dr. James Driscoli (oral surgeon) and Dr. Roberto Palma (plastic surgeon)...Counsell established himself prior to the injury committing only 5 errors in 539 chances at second base and earning a spot on The Sporting News N.L. East All-Star team...he hit his second career grand slam on April 16 in Florida off the Phils' Tyler Green. 1997—Craig opened the year as a minor leaguer in the Colorado organization and ended the campaign by scoring the game-winning run in the bottom of the 11th inning in Game #7 of the World Series for Florida...he was traded to Florida for reliever Mark Hutton on July 27 after beginning the season with Colorado Springs, followed by a one-game stint with the Rockies... Counsell not only scored the deciding run in the '97 Series against Cleveland, but his sacrifice fly in the bottom of the ninth sent the contest into extra innings...he collected his first big league hit off Cincinnati's Mike Morgan in his first big league start on July 29...he later added his first Major League home run on August 24 off the Cards' Todd Stottlemyre, which was also a grand slam. 1996—Injuries limited him to just 25 games with Colorado Springs, suffering a right shin contusion that led to a stress fracture on April 30... Craig returned to action in mid-July but appeared in just 3 games before fracturing the same shin on July 17 and missing the rest of the season. 1995—Hit .281 as the regular shortstop for PCL Champion Colorado Springs, leading the league in total chances (598) and double plays (86)...earned his first recall to the majors on September 15, appearing in 3 games. 1994—Injuries once again impeded Craig's progress, starting the year with New Haven (AA) on May 3 after suffering a broken right foot due to a spring training foul ball...played until breaking his nose on July 29, tried to make a comeback a week later picking up a hit in his lone at bat, then returned to the disabled list. 1993—Counsell topped all California League shortstops in total chances (621), while leading his Central Valley (A) club in doubles (26) and ranking second on the club with 132 hits. 1992—An 11th round selection in Colorado's first-ever draft class, Craig opened the year as Bend's second baseman, the first time he'd ever played that position...his year was cut short when he suffered a broken right instep on a foul ball just 18 games into the season.

Age: 25

Born: February 14, 1981 in Houston, TX

Residence: Austin, TX

M.L. Service: 1 year, 48 days

HOW OBTAINED

Acquired with pitcher Javier Vazquez, catcher Dioner Navarro and cash considerations in exchange for pitcher Randy Johnson, January 11, 2005.

2005 HIGHLIGHTS

Brad turned in a solid first full-season at the big-league level, ranking among N.L. rookie leaders with 26 starts (second), 160.0 innings pitched (second), 82 strikeouts (third), 8 wins (tied for third) and a 4.61 ERA (fifth)...his season ranked among the top performances by a D'Back rookie, including the second-highest totals in starts, strikeouts and innings, while tying for third in wins...although he spent the vast majority of the year in the rotation, his Arizona debut came as a reliever on Opening Day (April 4) working 4.0 innings out of the pen against the Cubs, allowing 6 hits and 4 runs (2 earned)...he then had to sit out 2 games (April 5-6) due to an MLB-imposed suspension he received for an incident while with the Yankees on September 26, 2004, against Boston...Halsey was inserted into the rotation on April 11 vs. Colorado, winning 2-0, allowing 5 hits in 6.0 innings with a career-high 7 K's...after dropping consecutive starts, Brad went head-to-head with fellow University of Texas alum Roger Clemens, and the Houston Astros, taking a 6-1 win on May 19 in Minute Maid Park, with Halsey allowing just a run on 6 hits over 7.0 innings...all told in May, he went 2-2 with a 2.82 ERA, surrendering 12 earned runs in 38.1 frames...he scuffled through an 0-5 month of June, but rebounded by going 4-0 with a 2.09 ERA over his next 6 starts from July 3-August 4, allowing 9 earned runs in 38.2 innings...he worked a career-high 7.2 innings vs. Cincinnati on July 8 and on July 23 vs. Atlanta...his career-best 4-game win streak was halted on August 10 with a 10-5 loss to the Marlins in Dolphins Stadium, allowing 6 runs over 5.0 innings...the 6 runs were as many tallies as he had surrendered his previous 5 starts from July 8-August 4, a stretch in which he went 3-0 with a sparkling 1.62 ERA over 33.1 innings...he dropped his final 5 starts of the season from August 10-30...Brad pitched once in relief over the season's final month, giving up 3 runs in a 2-inning stint vs. Milwaukee on September 15...he held opposing lefthanded batters to a .267 average (36-for-135) while righthanders batted .309 (155-for-501)...he pitched at least 6.0 innings in 18 of 26 starts and recorded 13 "quality starts," third on the staff...his first year in the National League, Halsey went 3-for-48 (.063) at the plate, but drew 6 walks, tops among the team's pitchers.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

2004—Brad got his first taste of the Major Leagues with a pair of stints in New York...his contract was purchased on June 19 and he made his big league debut that day, recording a 6-2 win at Dodger Stadium allowing 2 runs on 5 hits in 5.2 innings...he also picked up his first Major League hit in his first at bat, a single off of Hideo Nomo...Halsey was optioned to Columbus on July 8 and went 11-4 with a 2.63 ERA in 24 games (23 starts) while in AAA...he earned the International League Pitcher-of-the-Week honors for June 7-13...Brad was recalled from Columbus on September 5...he got the starting nod in the second game of the September 9 twinbill against Tampa Bay but did not get the decision in the Yankees' 10-5 triumph. 2003—Halsey split the season between Tampa (A) and Trenton (AA), combining the two stops for a 17-9 record and 4.21 ERA, with his win total tying 3 other pitchers for most in the minors...he worked a scoreless frame at the Florida State League All-Star game on June 14...he was promoted to Trenton on June 19. 2002—The Yankees' eighth-round selection in the First-Year Player Draft, Halsey signed on July 1 and was assigned to Staten Island (A) of the New York-Penn League... his .193 opponents average as a starter ranked third in the league...he made his professional debut on July 7 against Brooklyn with 3.0 innings of relief work, permitting a run on 2 hits...he moved into the starting rotation for the remainder of the season...he recorded his first professional win at Brooklyn on July 26.

PERSONAL

HT: 6-1 WT: 195 B/T: R/R

Age: 26 (Turns 27 on August 10)

Born: August 10, 1979 in Salt Lake City, UT

Residence: St. George, UT

M.L. Service: 3 years, 142 days

HOW OBTAINED

Acquired from the Boston Red Sox with pitchers Casey Fossum and Jorge de la Rosa, and a player-to-be-named (outfielder Michael Goss) in exchange for pitcher Curt Schilling, November 28, 2003.

2005 HIGHLIGHTS

Brandon opened the year as the closer and was off to a fantastic start before being derailed by a strained right elbow...he earned 14 saves on the year, ranking 18th in N.L. and second on team (Jose Valverde, 15) despite not recording a rescue between May 11 and September 29...he made his D'Backs debut on April 5 vs. the Cubs, more than 16 months after being acquired from Boston, and closed out a 5-4 triumph with 1.2 scoreless innings...it was his first big-league appearance since September 8, 2003, having missed the '04 campaign following nerve transposition surgery...Lyon recorded saves in 9 consecutive appearances from April 10-26 and wound up with 10 saves during April, matching Matt Mantei's (August 2003) club record for a single month...soreness in his right elbow sidelined him from May 13-August 12, including a brief rehab stint with Tucson (AAA)...at the time of his injury, his 13 saves were tied with Pittsburgh's Jose Mesa and Texas' Francisco Cordero for most in the majors...Brandon owned a 1.96 ERA in 18 games before being sidelined and a 13.91 ERA in 14 outings after returning from the D.L....he picked up his 14th save of the year in his final outing on September 29 in L.A., his first rescue since May 11 vs. Washington...he converted his last 13 save chances, tied with Jose Valverde for the third-longest streak in club history, behind only Mantei (14, July 4-Aug. 29, 2003) and Gregg Olson (22, July 13-Sept. 22, 1998)...he stranded his first 10 inherited runners on the year...his save percentage (93%) would have ranked third in National League if he had accumulated enough opportunities...Lyon was sharp in 18 games at Chase Field (3.78 ERA), but his numbers took a hit on the road (9.95 ERA).

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

2004—Brandon had a tough first year on the health front as a member of the Diamondbacks...he underwent an MRI and an electromyogram in spring training, then a further examination by Dr. Lewis Yocum led to the decision to have ulnar nerve transposition surgery on March 24...two weeks later the cast came off, but Lyon did not return to the mound until July 14 when he tossed about 25 pitches...he began a rehab assignment with Tucson (AAA) on July 26 and was touched for 5 runs on 6 hits in an inning of work against Fresno...overall he pitched 6 times for Tucson, going 2-3 with a 15.12 ERA...during his August 11 rehab outing, Brandon reported tightness in the elbow...an MRI revealed no structural damage, but the setback once again slowed his return...another attempt to activate him before year's end was aborted during the season's final week. 2003—Brandon pitched exclusively out of the pen for the first time in his big league career...he served as one of Boston's top closer options prior to the late-May arrival of Byung-Hyun Kim, with Lyon recording 6 saves through the end of May (spanning 22 appearances), and 9 saves overall...he did not pitch in the majors from July 21-September 2 due to right elbow soreness...Brandon experienced a strange final week of July, going to the Pirates in a 4-player swap on July 22 that sent Scott Sauerbeck to the BoSox...upon his arrival in Pittsburgh, the Pirates claimed an MRI showed fraying tendons in Lyon's pitching elbow and placed him on the 15-day disabled list on July 25...Red Sox doctors, reading the same MRI, disagreed with the diagnosis, then he was re-acquired by the Red Sox with Jeff Suppan in a deal just prior to the July 31 non-waiver trading deadline...Lyon made 5 rehab outings with Pawtucket (AAA), then returned to Boston's active roster on September 2...Brandon made a memorable Red Sox debut at Tampa Bay on April 2, pitching 3.0 innings of scoreless, extra-inning relief to earn a 9-8 win in 16 innings, Boston's first victory of the season...he earned his first Major League save on April 16 vs. the Devil Rays...Lyon struck out Robin Ventura, Alfonso Soriano and Derek Jeter in the ninth inning to preserve a 10-7 win on May 20 vs. New York...he did not incur a blown save until June 28 vs. Florida. 2002—Lyon began the year with Toronto, the first time he broke camp on a Major League roster...he made his first career relief appearance on May 28 at Boston...he was optioned to Syracuse (AAA) on June 11 and remained in the minors for the rest of the year. 2001—In only his second professional season, Brandon reached the majors, going 5-4 with a 4.29 ERA in 11 starts for the Blue Jays after combining to go 10-3 with a 3.76 in 20 AA and AAA starts...he was named Southern League Pitcher-of-the-Week for April 13-19...he jumped to Syracuse (AAA) on June 1, going 5-3 with a 3.69 ERA in 11 starts...he was named International League Pitcher-of-the-Week twice (June 11-17 and July 9-15)...he had his contract purchased by Toronto on August 3 and won his Major League debut the next day at SkyDome, allowing one earned run on 4 hits in 7.1 innings in a 2-1 victory over the Orioles...Brandon was the seventh youngest pitcher to start a game for the Blue Jays and the second youngest to win (Phil Huffman, who was 20 in 1979)...Lyon won 4 consecutive starts from August 21-September 7, posting a 2.73 ERA. 2000—Spent his first pro season appearing in 15 games (13 starts) for Queens (A).

HOW OBTAINED

2005 HIGHLIGHTS

Brandon was Arizona's most dependable starter throughout the season and was named the Diamondbacks' 2005 Pitcher-of-the-Year by the Arizona Chapter of the BBWAA after leading the staff in wins (14), innings (229.0) and ERA (3.54)…he had a career-high workload (229.0 IP) which ranked sixth in the National League and eighth in the majors…he also ranked among leading N.L. starters with 3.54 ERA (15th), 172 strikeouts (T-15th), 11.40 baserunners per 9-innings (17th) and 2.92 K/BB ratio (20th)…he had a team-best 22 "quality" starts, which tied for 14th in the big leagues and his 14 wins were 4 more than his previous best set in his rookie season of 2003…his biggest improvement came in his control, only one year after issuing an MLB-high 119 walks, he cut that total in half during the 2005 campaign with 59…Webby had a Major League-leading ground ball to air ratio of 4.34, which was light years ahead of his nearest competition, the Indians' Jake Westbrook (3.13), Dodgers' Derek Lowe (2.92) and the Cards' Mark Mulder (2.74)…Webb also led with 451 groundouts induced, 4 more than Lowe…he was guilty of 14 wild pitches, leading the N.L. for the second consecutive season…he opened the season 6-0 over his first 9 starts, one win shy of matching Randy Johnson's club record 7-0 start to the 2000 campaign…his first loss came on May 26, falling 10-0 to San Diego, permitting 6 runs (3 earned) over 6.2 innings…he recorded his third career complete game on June 18 at Cleveland, but it came in a 3-1 setback to the Indians…it was his first route-going effort since June 25, 2004, when he incurred a 2-1 loss to the Tigers in Comerica Park…Brandon notched his eighth win of the year on June 23 in San Francisco, eclipsing his entire victory total (7-16) of 2004…he was efficient in picking up the victory needing only 79 pitches to dispatch the Giants, allowing 2 runs in 7.0 innings…he was 0-5 with a 6.57 ERA over a span of 6 starts from June 29-July 26…he broke out of a personal 6-start victory drought with a well-pitched 13-6 win over the Cubs in Wrigley Field on July 31, putting his 25 career wins at the time against Greg Maddux's 313, with Webby working 7.0 innings allowing only 2 runs on 3 hits on a day when the infamous Wrigley winds were blowing out and his teammates hammered a club record-tying 5 homers…he turned in 2 double-digit strikeout performances on the season, the first coming in a no decision against Colorado on August 5, holding the Rockies to 2 runs (only 1 earned) over 7.0 frames of 3-hit ball with 10 K's…the other was in a 3-2 win at home over the Dodgers on September 21, giving up 2 runs over 7.2 frames with a career-high tying 11 strikeouts…that outing included 6 consecutive K's in the fourth and fifth innings, one shy of Randy Johnson's club record…he hurled 7.0 shutout frames in a 2-0 triumph over Philadelphia on August 27, scattering 5 hits with 6 strikeouts…it was his first win at Chase Field since May 4, spanning 9 starts between home victories…he finished the year strong, going 3-1 with a 1.72 ERA in his last 5 starts, allowing 7 earned runs in 36.2 innings with 32 K's…he went 6-for-62 with the bat and had a team-high 13 sacrifice bunts, tying for fifth in the National League…Brandon owned a 2.83 ERA in day games, seventh in the N.L. and ninth in the big leagues…his work in an Arizona uniform was rewarded with a winter-time contract extension that runs through the 2009 season with a club option for 2010.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

Brandon is one of only six Major League pitchers who have worked at least 180.0 innings and posted an ERA below 4.00 in each of the last three seasons…the others are Roger Clemens, Livan Hernandez, Tim Hudson, Pedro Martinez and Carlos Zambrano…Webby, Hudson and Zambrano are the only ones of the six-some to have an ERA under 3.60 in each of those seasons.

2004—Despite going 7-16, 20 of his 35 starts were quality, allowing 3 earned runs or less over 6.0 innings…on 5 occasions he left a contest with the lead, only to watch the opposition rebound later…Brandon's 35 starts tied 5 others for the Major League lead…he surrendered a team record 119 walks, topping the majors, while also leading the N.L. with a franchise-high 17 wild pitches…Brandon allowed 2 earned runs or less in 6 straight starting assignments from June 3-30, but was only 1-3…he went the distance on June 25 in Detroit, but dropped a decision…it was his second career complete game with both occurring in the Motor City, the other nearly a year earlier on June 28, 2003…from June 3-Sept. 1, Webb made 18 starts and compiled a 3.02 ERA, but went just 4-9…he had his shortest big league starting assignment on September 17 in St. Louis, when plate umpire Jerry Layne made the judgment that Webb threw at opposing hurler Woody Williams and ejected him with none out in the third inning…Brandon had just surrendered a home run to Mike Matheny, then hit his counterpart with the next pitch…it was the first ejection of Webb's big league career…his sinker proved effective as he led all starters with a 3.55 groundball-to-flyball ratio, easily outdistancing Boston's Derek Lowe (2.87), the only starting pitcher Webb trailed in that category during 2003. 2003—Brandon's year began in Tucson (AAA) but wound up with him being named by Baseball America as the Major League Rookie of the Year, going 10-9 with a 2.84 ERA...his ERA was fourth best in the National League and sixth in the majors, while his 172 strikeouts easily led all rookies...he limited opponents to a .212 average (140-for-659), good for third in the N.L....he made 28 starts and led all rookies with 21 "quality starts", including 16 in which he worked 6.0 innings and allowed 2 or fewer earnies...Brandon proved he could pitch well in hostile environments as evidenced by a 2.27 road ERA, fourth in the majors and third in the N.L....his first recall was on April 22 and he debuted that night with a scoreless frame of relief in Montreal...he made his first Major League start 5 days later with a 6-1 win in the first game of an April 27 doubleheader at Shea Stadium, tossing 7.0 shutout innings, allowing only 3 hits and a walk while recording 10 K's...his 10-K performance started an afternoon that saw the Diamondbacks set a Major League record for most K's in a doubleheader, as 27 Mets fanned during the day...within minutes of securing the win, Brandon was optioned back to AAA to make room on the roster for Randy Johnson who was coming off the disabled list to start the nightcap of the twinbill...following Johnson's 12-strikeout performance that resulted in a 7-3 win, he once again experienced swelling in his right knee and required arthroscopic surgery which necessitated Webb's second recall...Brandon's Big Apple outing started a streak of 13 consecutive quality starts to begin his career, the longest streak in the majors since Montreal's Steve Rogers had 16 in a row in 1973...Webb became the first D'Back rookie to toss a complete game shutout when he blanked Detroit, 7-0, at Comerica Park on June 28, allowing 7 hits...on the year, he recorded 542 major league outs, only 55 of which were caught by an outfielder (10%). 2002—Brandon got off to a fast start at El Paso (AA) and ranked fourth in the Texas League in ERA (3.14) and K's (122)...he was one of 8 Diablos named to the Texas League All-Star Game on June 17, pitching 2.0 shutout innings...Brandon made his AAA debut on July 4 at New Orleans as the replacement starter for Erik Sabel, who was summoned to the big league club...arriving an hour and a half before game time because of travel delays, he absorbed the loss after working 7.0 innings, allowing 3 runs on 5 hits...he returned to El Paso and closed out his season...he was 2-0 with a 0.55 ERA (1 ER in 16.1 IP) and 17 strikeouts, in 8 games (1 start) for Scottsdale of the Arizona Fall League. 2001—He owned the California League's 10th best ERA (3.99) and finished fourth in innings (162.1) and strikeouts (158)...he plunked a league-high 27 batters. 2000—He held Midwest League opponents to a .172 batting average...he was disabled the final month of the season with right arm soreness.

PERSONAL

Brandon Tyler Webb...Brandon and his wife, Alicia, are expecting their first child during spring training and make their off-season home in Ashland, Kentucky...he was a 1997 graduate of Ashland High School, then played his collegiate baseball in Lexington at the University of Kentucky, where he teamed with infielder Andy Green, who was the all-time hits leader at UK and has spent a portion of each of the last 2 seasons with the Diamondbacks...Brandon established the Brandon Webb K Foundation last year, benefitting at-risk children, youth and their families throughout Arizona by providing assistance, programs and events designed to build self-esteem, provide unique life changing opportunities and help them to set and achieve life goals...he has also been the club spokesman for the past 2 seasons for the Domestic Violence Prevention campaign.

A Perfect Night in Atlanta

Adept at setting records throughout his Major League career, Randy Johnson added something new to his impressive resume when he retired all 27 Atlanta Braves he faced on May 18, 2004, in Turner Field. At 40 years, 251 days, he became the oldest pitcher in history to record a perfect game, bettering Cy Young, who was 37 years, 37 days on May 5, 1904. Johnson's gem was the 15th in modern day regular season history, the 16th including Don Larsen's perfect effort for the Yankees in the 1956 World Series.

Johnson fanned 13 in the 117-pitch performance which concluded with a 98-mph pitch to Eddie Perez to end the game. It was the first no-no in franchise history and first perfect game in the majors since David Cone on July 18, 1999, in Yankee Stadium against Montreal. It was also the first perfecto in the National League since Montreal's Dennis Martinez retired all 27 Dodgers he faced on July 28, 1991, in Chavez Ravine. The box score:

The Original 35

The Diamondbacks and Tampa Bay Devil Rays were named the 29th and 30th teams in Major League Baseball history during the baseball owners meetings on March 9, 1995. Both clubs began play in 1998, but before a pitch could be thrown each team was given the opportunity to draft 35 players from the existing 28 clubs.

The 1997 MLB Expansion Draft took place across at the Phoenix Civic Plaza, across the street from the nearly constructed Chase Field. The Diamondbacks selected lefthanded pitcher Brian Anderson from the Cleveland Indians with their first choice. Arizona's 35 selections:

1999 Division Series
vs. New York Mets

New York Mets (3) vs. Arizona Diamondbacks (1)
October 5-9, 1999

The Diamondbacks not only had their first taste of post-season play in 1999, they also had the fastest taste in major league expansion history, winning the Western Division by 14 games to qualify for the second season in their second season, a year faster than the previous best. Colorado held the previous quickest qualification at three years, though they did so in 1995 as a Wild Card entry and in a 144-game season. Arizona's division title came six years faster than any other expansion club, beating the New York Mets and Kansas City Royals who each won a title in their eighth campaign.

By virtue of their division title, the Diamondbacks had a home-field advantage, taking on the New York Mets, who qualified as the Wild Card club with a one-game playoff victory in Cincinnati the day before. The Mets seemed to still be riding the momentum from their visit to Cincinnati, immediately taking the home-field edge away from Arizona with an 8-4 win in the series opener. The D'Backs rallied to even the series at a game apiece behind the arm of Todd Stottlemyre and bat of Steve Finley, cruising to a 7-1 win in game #2. Stottlemyre, continuing his amazing return from a tear in his right labrum, worked 6.2 innings of 4-hit ball, allowing just a run, while Finley went 2-for-3 with a double and 5 RBI. Matt Williams also chipped in with 3 hits and 3 runs scored.

The Diamondbacks weren't as fortunate upon arriving in New York, losing both games before getting a shot at returning to Chase Field for a possible fifth game. The Mets dominated game #3, posting a 9-2 win in their return to Shea, scoring 3 times off of starter Omar Daal in a 4-inning stint, then putting the game away with a 6-run sixth inning.

Arizona's season came to an abrupt and heartbreaking end in a Saturday matinee at Shea, as Todd Pratt ended the affair and the Diamondbacks season with a 10th inning homer. The Diamondbacks had taken a 3-2 lead in the eighth, when Jay Bell doubled home a pair of runs, missing a 3-run homer by a matter of inches. Pratt, subbing for the injured Mike Piazza, had been hitless in 7 at bats in the series prior to sending the Mets to the next level with his shot just out of Finley's reach in centerfield.

2001 Division Series
vs. St. Louis Cardinals

Arizona Diamondbacks (3) vs. St. Louis Cardinals (2)
October 9-13, 2001

Pitching and clutch hitting were the themes in the 5-game Division Series against St. Louis, ultimately won by Arizona when Tony Womack singled in the tie-breaking run in the bottom of the ninth inning of Game #5 to sent the Diamondbacks into their first League Championship Series. Curt Schilling and Matt Morris set the tone for the tightly-contested series in the opening game at Chase Field, with Schilling prevailing by a 1-0 count, tossing a 3-hit complete game. The Redbirds rebounded to even the series at a game apiece with a 4-1 win over Randy Johnson, the last loss experienced by the Big Unit in the 2001 post-season.

With the series squared at 1-1, the scene shifted to Busch Stadium, where Craig Counsell struck a huge blow in Game #3 with a seventh inning, 3-run homer off of southpaw Mike Matthews to stake Arizona to a 5-3 victory and 2-1 lead in the series. The Cards sent the set back to Phoenix for a deciding game when they recorded a 4-1 win in St. Louis after a 3-hour, 36-minute rain delay prior to Game #4.

Pitching was once again the focal point in the series finale, as Schilling and Morris continued their stingy ways, each surrendering solo homers to account for all of the scoring entering the ninth inning. The Diamondbacks prevailed in the bottom of the ninth, but not before some tense moments. With the potential winning run at third base and one-out in the inning, Womack was unable to make contact on a suicide squeeze attempt, leaving Midre Cummings as a sitting-duck between third and home. On the play, pinch runner Danny Bautista moved up to second base, then scored the series-winning run when Womack poked a Steve Kline pitch to left-center to set off the first of three post-season celebrations for the Diamondbacks.

2001 League Championship Series vs. Atlanta Braves

Arizona Diamondbacks (4) vs. Atlanta Braves (1)
October 16-21, 2001

Coming off the nerve-racking series against St. Louis, Arizona made relatively quick work of the ??-time division champion Braves, taking 4 of the 5 games in the N.L.C.S. to advance to its first-ever World Series appearance. Randy Johnson, who had dominated the regular season throughout his career, was in the crosshairs of critics for incurring a post-season losing streak that had been extended to 7 games with a Division Series setback to St. Louis. The Big Unit quickly silenced the critics with his performance in the League Championship Series and his eventual World Series work, finishing the 2001 post-season with 5 consecutive wins.

The winning streak began in Game #1 against the Braves, as Johnson outdueled Greg Maddux by tossing a complete game 3-hitter for a 2-0 win in Chase Field, fanning 11 in the process. Atlanta rebounded the following day for an 8-1 win to send the series to Turner Field tied at a game apiece. The Diamondbacks, who swept a 3-game visit to Atlanta during the regular season, continued their mastery in the south by taking all 3 games of the N.L.C.S. in Atlanta to earn a trip to the Fall Classic and eventual meeting with the vaunted New York Yankees.

Curt Schilling made his only start in the N.L.C.S. in Game #3, going the distance on a 4-hitter with 12 strikeouts while posting a 5-1 victory. Steve Finley contributed 2 hits including a double and 3 RBI, and eventual Series MVP Craig Counsell added 3 hits and scored a run. The D'Backs took a commanding 3-1 lead in the series with an 11-4 triumph in Game #4, taking advantage of 4 Atlanta errors to score 6 unearned runs. Counsell was again the focal point for the offense, collecting 3 hits with 2 doubles and 4 RBI, while Luis Gonzalez hit a 3-run homer to ice the affair in the ninth. Arizona's ticket to the World Series was punched the following night when Johnson returned to the hill and recorded a 3-2 victory over Tom Glavine. The crushing blow was a pinch-hit 2-run homer by Erubiel Durazo off of Glavine in the fifth inning to stake the Diamondbacks to a lead. Johnson and reliever Byung-Hyun Kim combined to finish off the Braves, with Kim coaxing a series ending fly ball to center by Julio Franco.

2001 World Series
vs. New York Yankees

Arizona Diamondbacks (4) vs. New York Yankees (3)
October 27-November 4, 2001

The Diamondbacks and Yankees provided a still-healing country with one of the most exciting World Series on record, with Arizona prevailing with a furious ninth inning rally in Game #7 to capture the title in just its fourth year, the fastest ever by an expansion team.

The home team won all 7 games with the D'Backs making their first-ever trip to Yankee Stadium in possession of a 2-0 series lead. The Fall Classic began with Curt Schilling and Randy Johnson teaming up for back-to-back dominating performances, as Schilling gave up just 3 hits and a run over 7.0 innings for a 9-1 win, followed the next night with a complete game 3-hitter by the Big Unit as he fanned 11 in a 4-0 triumph over the 3-time defending world champs. As was the case in the NLCS against Atlanta, the Diamondbacks took advantage of the opponents miscues to score 5 unearned runs in the opener. World Series first-timers Luis Gonzalez and Mark Grace displayed their veteran status with Gonzalez hammering a 2-run homer to chase starter Mike Mussina, while Grace, the long-time Cub, delivered a key 2-run double. Johnson made a pair of clutch hits stand up in Game #2, with Danny Bautista establishing himself with a run scoring double off of Andy Pettitte in the second inning, then Matt Williams providing the crushing blow with a seventh inning 3-run homer off the Yankee southpaw.

The scene then shifted to New York, where emotions still ran high after the tragic events of September 11. Prior to working out for the first time in Yankee Stadium, the Diamondbacks paid homage to those who perished in the attack and met with hundreds of the rescue workers and police and fire officials when the team buses traveled to Ground Zero. The focus returned to the field the following night when the latest date for a World Series game on record, October 30, began with President George W. Bush throwing out the ceremonial first pitch. It was the first time a President participated in a World Series pre-game since Dwight Eisenhower made the ceremonial toss prior to Game #1 of the 1956 series in Ebbets Field.

The Diamondbacks entered Yankee Stadium only 2 wins shy of capturing the crown, but due to the strangest of circumstances, they would return to Phoenix later in the week still seeking 2 wins. The Yankees won a trio of 1-run decisions, posting a 2-1 victory in Game #3, then recording a pair of heart-wrenching decisions the following 2 nights.

Schilling, who had downplayed the "mystique" and "aura" of Yankee Stadium, gave up just a run on 3 hits in 7.0 innings while working on 3 days rest for the first time in his career. What happened after his departure in Game #4 and the following night in Game #5 actually lent credence to the hallowed ground in the Bronx. Leading 3-1 with 2 outs and a man aboard in the bottom of the ninth inning in Game #4, Byung-Hyun Kim was tagged for a game-tying home run by Tino Martinez to send the Halloween night crowd into a frenzy at Yankee Stadium. Derek Jeter then ended the contest in the 10th inning with an opposite field fly ball into the short porch in right field off of Kim, just minutes after the clock struck midnight to end the first-ever November World Series game.

With the series tied a 2-2, the historic home of the Yankees added to its "mystique" as the New Yorkers rallied from yet another 2-run deficit with 2 outs in the bottom of the ninth inning to complete a 3-game sweep in the Bronx. Trailing by a 2-0 count entering the bottom of the ninth inning, Scott Brosius hit a game-tying home run off of Kim to send the affair to extra innings. New York then survived a bases loaded situation in the 11th before Alfonso Soriano plated the tie breaking run in the bottom of the 12th to stake the Yanks to a 3-2 lead as the series returned to the Valley. It marked the first time in World Series history that a team won 2 games in the same Series when trailing by at least 2 runs entering the ninth inning. Lost in all of the excitement was a terrific pitching performance by Miguel Batista, who fired 7.2 shutout innings and left with a 2-0 lead over Yankee ace Mike Mussina.

The Diamondbacks proved worthy to the task ahead, and took away any doubt about their resiliency with a 15-2 thumping of the Yankees in Chase Field to send the series to a deciding seventh game. Danny Bautista had 3 hits and knocked in 5 runs to lead Arizona's 22-hit attack. The D'Backs jumped all over New York for a 15-0 lead after just 4 innings, highlighted by an 8-run outburst in the third. Randy Johnson tossed 7.0 strong innings to earn the win, yet still managed to keep something in the tank for a possible Game #7 appearance.

The latest World Series ever played culminated with one of the more thrilling final games in history, as Curt Schilling and Roger Clemens dueled, the first meeting of 20-game winners in a Game #7 since John Tudor and Bret Saberhagen squared off in 1985, when the Royals defeated the Cardinals. The D'Backs took a 1-0 lead on a Bautista double in the sixth, but the Yankees answered in the seventh on a Tino Martinez RBI single. New York's Alfonso Soriano broke the tie by hitting an ankle-high pitch from Schilling into the left field seats to open the eighth inning. Schilling was removed in favor of Miguel Batista, who recorded the second out of the inning, then the Big Unit was summoned from the bullpen, less than 24 hours after his 7-inning performance in Game #6. Johnson retired all 4 men he faced in 1.1 innings which set the stage for Arizona's bottom of the ninth rally.

With Mariano Rivera on the hill and the possessor of 23 consecutive post-season saves, Mark Grace opened the bottom of the ninth with a single to center. The inning unraveled in Arizona's favor when Rivera threw wildly into centerfield on a potential force out at second base. Following a fielder's choice on a failed sacrifice attempt, Tony Womack doubled down the line in right to tie the game and leave runners at second and third with 1 out. Craig Counsell was hit by a pitch to load the bases, then Luis Gonzalez capped the remarkable rally with a bloop single over the drawn-in infield to send Chase Field and the state of Arizona into a frenzy. Johnson was credited with the win, giving him a 3-0 mark in the series, as he and Schilling was named the World Series Co-MVP's. The duo combined to go 4-0 in 6 appearances, allowing only 6 earned runs in 38.2 innings.

2001 World Series Notebook

- The Diamondbacks entered the World Series with Craig Counsell as the only active player in possession of a World Championship ring while the Yankees were 3-time defending champs.

- Randy Johnson and Curt Schilling were the second co-MVP's in World Series history joining the Los Angeles Dodger trio of Ron Cey, Pedro Guerrero and Steve Yeager...it marked the 20th and 21st time a starting pitcher won the award, first since Florida's Livan Hernandez in 1997.

- It was the third time in World Series history that the home team won every game, joining the Twins against St. Louis in 1987, and Twins against Atlanta in 1991.

- The Diamondbacks outscored New York 31-5 in the 4 wins, and were outscored 9-6 in the trio of 1-run losses in Bronx.

- The Diamondbacks were the fastest expansion team to get to the Fall Classic a year quicker than Florida in '97...other expansion clubs to make the World Series and the year they qualified - Mets (eighth year), Royals (12th year), Seattle Pilots/Milwaukee Brewers (14th year), San Diego (16th year), Toronto (16th year)...remaining expansion clubs that have not appeared in the Series include the Angels, Senators/Rangers, Colt 45's/Astros, Expos, Mariners, Rockies and Devil Rays.

- Arizona pitching held the Yankees to .183 team average (42-for-229), the lowest average ever in a 7 or 8 game World Series...previous low was .185 by St. Louis vs. Kansas City in 1985.

- Arizona's overall staff ERA of 1.94 was lowest in World Series play since Cincinnati's 1.70 mark in a 4-game sweep of Oakland in 1990 and lowest in a 7-game set since Kansas City had a 1.89 mark in '85 vs. the Cardinals.

- The Diamondbacks were the first team in 80 years to win the first 2 games they ever played in the World Series, the fourth team overall joining the 1914 Boston Braves, 1919 Cincinnati Reds and 1921 New York Yankees.

- The walk-off finish to game #7 was the 11th overall "sudden death" ending to a World Series, the third in a row that involved a 7-game series...the last was the '97 finish when Craig Counsell scored the tie-breaking run in the 10th inning as Florida defeated Cleveland...the other was Minnesota's 10th inning win over the Braves in the Metrodome in 1991.

- The Diamondbacks are the 19th team to win the series after trailing 3 games to 2...it was also the 11th time a team won games 6 & 7 at home.

- It was the first time the Yankees were involved in a game #7 of any post-season series since the 1964 World Series went to the limit against St. Louis.

- The Diamondbacks snapped New York's post-season series streak at 11, handing the Bronx Bombers their first series loss since the 5-game Division Series with Cleveland in 1997.

- When Curt Schilling and Roger Clemens hooked up in the final game, it marked the sixth time 20-game winners squared off in the seventh game, first since John Tudor (St. Louis) and Bret Saberhagen (Kansas City) in 1985.

- The 15-2 win in game #6 alone was worth the following tidbits:
  ...The Diamondbacks recorded a World Series record 22 hits.
  ...The 15 runs tied with Toronto for third highest in a World Series game.
  ...The 13-run margin of victory tied for second best ever matching the Yankees' 16-3 win over Pittsburgh in game #2 of '60 World Series, and was the second highest ever, just behind an 18-4 Yankee win in game #2 of the 1936 win over the Giants.
  ...The 15-0 lead after 5 innings tied the biggest lead by any team at any time in World Series game...the Yankees had a 16-1 lead in game #2 of the '60 series against Pittsburgh.
  ...Arizona's 8-run third inning marked the best inning since game #6 of 1968 series when Detroit scored 10 times in third inning of 13-1 win over St. Louis.

Destiny - a word heard often during the Diamondbacks run to the 2001 World Series Championship, was also a theme during the 2002 National League Division Series, a rematch with the St. Louis Cardinals. Only this time, destiny set up shop in the opposing dugout.

The Diamondbacks, sweeping a season-ending four game series against Colorado, clinched the NL West title, and homefield advantage against the Central Champion Cardinals, who had gone through an emotionally difficult season, losing broadcaster Jack Buck and pitcher Darryl Kile during the summer. The Cardinals also had momentum, having swept Arizona in a three-game set in St. Louis the week prior to the Division Series matchup.

In that same series in St. Louis, the Diamondbacks lost outfielder Luis Gonzalez to a separated left shoulder, adding to a list of Diamondbacks injuries that included fellow outfielder Danny Bautista, infielder Craig Counsell and pitcher Brian Anderson.

The Cardinals made an early and loud statement in Game #1 at Chase Field, posting a 12-2 win. St. Louis broke a 2-2 tie in the fourth by scoring 3 times, then later tied a Division Series record with 6 runs in the seventh.

Game #2 saw a return to form for Diamondbacks pitching, with Curt Schilling locked in a duel with the Cardinals' Chuck Finley. Arizona tied the game at 1-1 in the eighth inning on Quinton McCracken's RBI double, only to have the Cardinals score the game-winning run in the ninth for a 2-1 triumph, and a 2-0 series lead.

The series shifted to St. Louis for Game Three, but a change in venue did not bring a change in Arizona's fortunes. St. Louis completed the series sweep at Busch Stadium with a 6-3 victory. The Cardinals broke a 2-2 tie in the fourth by scoring twice.

1998 - D'Backs Debut in Desert

(65-97, Fifth in N.L. West)

3.6 million visit Bank One Ballpark during inaugural season

After years of dreaming, and a three-year building process, Arizona finally entered Major League Baseball on March 31, 1998, as the Diamondbacks played their inaugural game against the Colorado Rockies in Bank One Ballpark. Andy Benes was the first-ever starting pitcher, and Travis Lee produced the franchise's first base hit and home run. The first win for the Diamondbacks occurred on April 5, with a 3-2 victory at home over San Francisco after the club opened up with 5 consecutive losses. The belief that Arizona was ready for the majors was validated at the box office, as the Diamondbacks played to 21 sellouts at Bank One Ballpark, and drew a total of 3,602,856 fans.

Arizona, like all expansion teams, struggled out of the gate, losing 31 of its first 40, but under manager Buck Showalter's guidance, the Snakes shed the look of an expansion team, and eventually tied a major league expansion team record by putting together a 7-game winning streak in early September.

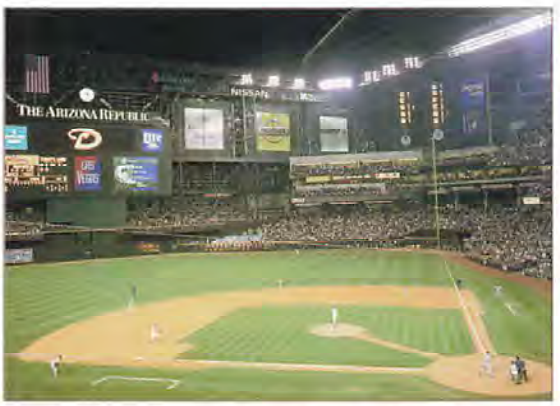
The year was highlighted by players who came to Arizona from different paths. Free agency brought Jay Bell, who hit 20 home runs, while a trade on the night of the Expansion Draft brought Devon White, who led the club with 85 RBI and 22 stolen bases while tying Lee for the club lead in home runs with 22. Benes, who was signed as a free agent, posted a 14-13 record, with the 14 wins tying Tampa Bay's Rolando Arrojo for most wins by an expansion pitcher.

The Expansion Draft produced pitcher Omar Daal, whose 8-12 record was deceiving, considering his 2.88 earned run average, infielder Tony Batista, who hit 18 home runs, and outfielder David Dellucci who hit .260 while playing in 124 games. Reliever Gregg Olson, signed by the club as a minor league free agent, ended the season as the club's Pitcher of the Year, earning 30 saves, the second highest total in Major League expansion history.

Arizona gained national notoriety in an 8-7 win at San Francisco on May 28. With an 8-6 lead, two out in the bottom of the ninth and the bases loaded, Showalter elected to intentionally walk Barry Bonds, bringing home a run to cut the lead to 8-7. The move paid off, as Olson got Brent Mayne to line out to right to ice the win.

Interleague play was highlighted by a late June home series with Seattle, in which outfielder Yamil Benitez hit two dramatic homers. The first was launched 452 feet into Friday's Front Row, then 2 days later, Benitez hit a game-winning solo home run in the ninth, giving Arizona 2 of 3 against the Mariners. Benitez had made his way into the record books 2 weeks earlier, clubbing his first career grand slam on June 9 vs. Anaheim. In the top half of the same inning, Cecil Fielder also hit a slam, the sixth time ever that each team hit a grand slam in the same inning.

White and Lee represented the Diamondbacks at the annual All-Star Game, with White going 3-for-3 with a triple in the mid-summer classic in Denver, and Lee participating in the Rookie Skills Competition. Daal produced the first complete-game shutout in team history on July 30, blanking the Cubs on 4 hits.



Andy Benes throws the first pitch in franchise history against Colorado's Mike Lansing, March 31, 1998.

Arizona posted a 13-16 record in August, with Olson saving 6 of the 13 wins. The highlight victory of the month occurred in the nightcap of a doubleheader in Philadelphia. After losing the opener 11-1, the Diamondbacks scored 5 times in the top of the ninth to tie the second game at 9-9, with White's three-run homer in the 11th producing a 12-9 victory. White drove in 5 runs in the contest, the third of 5 5-RBI games during the season.

By September, the Diamondbacks had left their first 40 games behind them, and played more like a contender. Not only did they split the 24 games played in the season's final month, 2 of the wins came at the expense of the Giants, who were battling for the National League Wild Card spot. Brian Anderson tossed a 1-0 shutout at Pittsburgh on September 3, while Benes posted a 3-0 record and 0.47 ERA for the month. Olson picked up 7 more saves, including his 200th career save on September 7. The month, and the inaugural season, ended with the Diamondbacks taking 2 of 3 games from the eventual National League champion Padres.

1999 - Fastest to First Division Crown

(100-62, First in N.L. West)

Diamondbacks dominate by 14 games with 100-win season
Big Unit captures Cy Young Award

The Diamondbacks' commitment to winning produced historic results in 1999, becoming the fastest team to go from expansion to post-season, winning 100 games and the National League West in their second year of existence.

The foundation was laid during the winter, when the club made a series of free agent signings and trades to transform the roster. Randy Johnson, Todd Stottlemyre, Armando Reynoso, Steve Finley, Greg Colbrunn and Greg Swindell were signed as free agents while G.M. Joe Garagiola Jr. made trades to acquire Luis Gonzalez and Tony Womack.

With new talent surrounding them, returning veterans Jay Bell and Matt Williams flourished. Bell led the club with 38 home runs, while Williams hit 35 and drove in 142. Finley added 34 homers and 103 RBI. Gonzalez had a breakout season, batting .336, with 26 home runs and 111 RBI. Womack, who had led the National League in stolen bases the prior two seasons in Pittsburgh, topped the majors with 72 thefts, 1 shy of Arizona's team total in the inaugural season of '98.

Johnson, who returned to the National League midway through 1998, going from Seattle to Houston, anchored a pitching staff that posted a 3.77 ERA. The Big Unit led the majors with 364 K's and the league with a 2.48 ERA to procure his first N.L. Cy Young Award, second of his career. Omar Daal had a career season with a 16-9 record and 3.65 ERA, while Reynoso went 10-6.

Even with all the new talent, it took time for the Diamondbacks to gel, going 13-11 in April after a 1-5 start. Included was a 16-inning, 5-hour, 14-minute marathon against the Dodgers on April 13, highlighted by Kelly Stinnett's pinch-hit home run in the bottom of the 16th to tie the game at 6-6, and Dante Powell's game-ending RBI single. On April 11, Gonzalez began a hitting streak that would last 30 games, while Williams earned N.L. Player-of-the-Month honors, batting .357, with 8 homers and 25 RBI.

Arizona's fortunes turned in May as the club was 18-10, going from third place when the month began to a 3 1/2-game advantage by the end of May. Gonzalez continued his torrid hitting streak, a streak that ended in San Francisco on May 20. The marquee wins of the month were 3 consecutive victories at home over Montreal on May 10-12, all coming on home runs. Jay Bell ended the first game of the series in the ninth inning, then Luis Gonzalez was the hero in the middle game, extending his hitting streak with a 10th inning walk-off shot, followed in the series finale by Matt Williams, who capped the sweep of the Expos with a bottom of the ninth blast. Travis Lee's second grand slam of the season keyed a 7-3 win in San Francisco on May 18, putting Arizona alone in 1st place for the first time in franchise history. One setback in May occurred the night before Lee's grand slam, as pitcher Todd Stottlemyre was diagnosed with a partial tear of the right rotator cuff on the 17th.

The Diamondbacks struggled through June as their offense hit a collective slump. The low point came on June 25, when St. Louis righthander Jose Jimenez pitched the first no-hitter in Bank One Ballpark history. To make matters worse, Arizona wasted a strong effort by Johnson, who allowed just a run on 5 hits, while striking out 14. The lone run of the game came in the 9th inning. Things didn't get much better for the Big Unit over his next 3 starts as he was blanked each time out, giving the opposition 4 consecutive shutout victories over Johnson to tie a major league record, while the D'Backs were no-hit, 1-hit, 2-hit and 3-hit in succession.

With the All-Star break approaching, Garagiola worked some trade magic by making a dramatic move to improve Arizona's bullpen on July 9, acquiring closer Matt Mantei from Florida in exchange for pitchers Vladimir Nunez, Brad Penny and a player to be named. Mantei's first appearance as a Diamondback came 2 days later, as he earned the save in a 7-4 victory over Oakland in the final game before the break. That was also the day that Jay Bell won $1 million for a fan by hitting a tie-breaking grand slam in the fifth inning, the player and the inning that was predicted by that fan.

Out of the break, the Diamondbacks embarked on an 8-game road trip that proved to be the turning point of their season. On July 20, with Arizona just 4 games above .500, and 2 1/2 games out of first, Johnson took the mound against his former teammates in Seattle's new Safeco Field, and tossed an 8-hit shutout for a 6-0 Arizona win, the first-ever shutout in the Mariners' new home. The win sparked a run that saw the Diamondbacks post a 51-17 record over the season's remaining 68 games. It also started a run that saw the D'Backs win 10 out of 11 to close out the month.

Just 2 nights after Johnson's performance in Seattle, the Diamondbacks recorded another key victory as Tony Womack hit an inside-the-park grand slam off of Houston's Billy Wagner in the Astrodome to stake Arizona to a come-from-behind win. It was the first inside-the-park homer in franchise history.

Johnson was named National League Pitcher-of-the-Month for July, despite posting a 2-3 record. During the month, Johnson's ERA was 1.13, and he recorded 64 strikeouts.

The winning continued in August, as Arizona posted streaks of 5, 4 and 6 games, en route to a 20-8 record for the month, the best monthly mark in club history to date. Most impressive was that the majority of the winning occurred on the road, as Arizona took 5 out of 6 on a trip to Philadelphia and Chicago, and 6 out of 7 on a swing through Pittsburgh and Florida. Gonzalez led the offensive charge, batting .342 for the month, with 7 home runs and 24 RBI. In his first full month with the club, Mantei recorded 7 saves, allowing just 1 earned run over 10.1 innings pitched. By the end of August, the Diamondbacks' lead in the National League West had ballooned to 7.5 games. August also saw the return of Stottlemyre, who opted not to have surgery on his torn rotator cuff. Instead, an intense rehab program put Stottlemyre back on the mound in Pittsburgh on August 20, and he notched the first win after his return 5 days later in Florida.

Matt Williams hammered 35 home runs and drove in 142 to assist in leading the Diamondbacks to the fastest post-season qualification in expansion history.

Nothing changed in September, as Arizona took complete command of the race with a 19-7 finish. Fate played a part in the Diamondbacks' fortunes on September 5, as Arizona defeated Atlanta 7-5, when a 3-run, ninth inning rally was sparked when Stinnett reached first base after striking out on a wild pitch that had appeared to end the game.

Arizona passed the 1962 Los Angeles Angels as baseball's most successful second-year team by posting its 87th win of the season on September 13th over Pittsburgh. A season of remarkable firsts was capped on the night of September 24th, as the Big Unit pitched a complete-game, 11-3 win at San Francisco to give the Diamondbacks the N.L. West crown. Johnson was 3-0 in September, while Andy Benes posted a 4-1 mark. Matt Mantei added 6 more saves, and the Diamondbacks as a team batted .301.

The Diamondbacks' first trip to the post-season was a brief, but dramatic Division Series against the Wild Card New York Mets. After dropping the opener 8-4, Arizona bounced back to even the series behind a gutty performance from Stottlemyre, who limited the Mets to 4 hits over 6.2 innings, while Steve Finley drove in 5 runs in a 7-1 victory. The series then shifted to New York, where the Mets took Game #3, 9-2, then won the series on Todd Pratt's home run to center, just out of the reach of a leaping Finley, to take a 4-3, 10-inning victory.

The first major league free agent acquired by the Diamondbacks, Jay Bell led the club with a career-high 38 homers in 1999 and was voted by the fans to start in the All-Star Game in Boston.

Gonzalez led the National League in hits with 206 while finishing second in the batting race (.336) and second in doubles (45). Bell closed the year second in runs scored (132), while the foursome of Gonzalez, Bell, Finley and Williams all eclipsed the 100-RBI mark, the seventh time a quartet achieved that mark in league history. Johnson's Cy Young campaign included league leading totals in innings (271.2), complete games (12), ERA (2.48) and strikeouts per 9-innings (12.06)

Bell, Williams and Finley each earned National League Player-of-the-Week honors during the season, as did Johnson, who won the award twice. Finley earned his third career Rawlings Gold Glove, the first-ever for the Diamondbacks' franchise. Bell, Williams, Johnson and Gonzalez represented Arizona at the All-Star Game in Boston, with Bell and Williams becoming the first Diamondbacks to be voted into the National League starting lineup.

2000 - Late Tailspin Seals Fate

(85-77, Third in N.L. West)

D'Backs finish 12 games out
Johnson wins second straight Cy Young Award

A season of high expectations ended in frustration, as the Diamondbacks suffered through a series of injuries, winding up third in the National League West with an 86-76 record. The day after the regular season ended a change was made as manager Buck Showalter was relieved of his duties on October 2. He was replaced at the end of the month by former big league catcher and Diamondbacks broadcaster Bob Brenly.

The cast that made up the 1999 National West Champions was virtually unchanged as spring training began, but the first sign that things would be different in 2000 occurred during the final game of the exhibition schedule when third baseman Matt Williams fouled a pitch off his right foot, breaking the second metatarsal. He then suffered a right quadriceps strain during a rehab assignment in late May in El Paso, forcing him to go back on the disabled list. All told, Williams, who had been the cornerstone of the Diamondbacks offense during its first 2 seasons, would play in just 96 games, and not truly regain his form offensively until the final month of the season. Closer Matt Mantei also opened the season on the disabled list with tendinitis in his right biceps.

In spite of injuries, the Diamondbacks opened with their strongest start in history, going 16-9 in April to jump to a 1 1/2 game lead in the division. Randy Johnson was 6-0 with a tiny 0.91 ERA in April, earning National League Pitcher-of-the-Month honors, just the third pitcher in history to win 6 games before May 1. The Big Unit wound up winning a second consecutive Cy Young Award from the BBWAA. Todd Stottlemyre, still pitching with a partial tear in his right rotator cuff, went 4-1 during the initial month. Luis Gonzalez led Arizona's power numbers with 8 home runs, while Erubiel Durazo opened the year by batting .333 in 22 games.

The Diamondbacks also made a pair of "discoveries" prior to the 2000 campaign, signing 40-year-old righthanded pitcher Mike Morgan as a non-roster invitee to spring training, and signing infielder Craig Counsell after he had been released in March by Los Angeles. Morgan came on in relief of Stottlemyre on April 5 to pitch 4.0 shutout innings in an 11-3 victory over Philadelphia, to earn his first save in 9 years, and finished the month with 4 saves, 1 more than his previous career total. The club also bolstered its bench in a mid-June trade that brought outfielder Danny Bautista from Florida in exchange for utility man Andy Fox.

Arizona reeled off a 9-game winning streak in May, as well as an 11-game home winning streak, as they continued to pace the N.L. West. Womack assembled a career-best 24-game hitting streak, leading the club in batting for the month with a .347 mark. Steve Finley clubbed a franchise-record 9 home runs in May, while driving in 31. The Diamondbacks' starting pitching, in particular its top 2 pitchers, continued to dominate, with Johnson going 3-1 and Stottlemyre posting a 4-2 mark. For the first 2 months of the season, Johnson and Stottlemyre had combined to post a 17-3 mark. Meanwhile, Mantei had returned to the 15-day D.L. due to shoulder weakness, opening the door for Byung-Hyun Kim, who had come to the Diamondbacks in 1999 from Korea and assumed the closer's role by posting 5 saves and a 2-1 record.

The final game of May saw the Diamondbacks record their first-ever triple play, in the fifth inning of a home game against St. Louis, as Steve Finley took a fly ball to center, threw in to catcher Damian Miller to tag Placido Polanco at the plate, with Miller firing to Tony Womack covering third for the tag on Edgar Renteria.

The Diamondbacks' injury problems continued to mount during a 13-14 month of June, including a 3-9 road mark, and a 5-game losing streak during a road trip to Texas and Chicago. Williams, Durazo and Stottlemyre all ended up on the D.L., with Stottlemyre's injury being the most painful. During the first inning of the June 25 game at home against Colorado, Stottlemyre was forced to leave due to an inflamed right elbow. This, after Stottlemyre had been on the D.L. earlier in the month due to tendinitis. Stottlemyre would eventually miss all of July and August, making just 4 starts in September before undergoing season-ending elbow surgery on September 26. Durazo had been bothered throughout the early portion of the season by a right wrist injury that required surgery on May 30. After appearing in 3 games at the end of June, Durazo returned to the D.L., and played in just 5 games in August before undergoing another wrist operation on August 24.

In an effort to bolster the offense, the Diamondbacks brought up infielder Alex Cabrera, who, like Durazo, had been discovered by the club in the Mexican League. Cabrera had been so dominant at both AA El Paso and AAA Tucson that he was named Howe Sportsdata's Minor League Player-of-the-Year, despite appearing in just 74 games. He made his major league appearance one for the record books, as he homered in his first trip to the plate, off of Houston's Yorkis Perez. It marked the 78th time in Major League history a player had hit a home run in his first career at-bat, and just the 13th time it had happened in a pinch-hitting role.

The Diamondbacks continued to struggle in July, winning just one home series during the month. Randy Johnson's 4-2 win at Oakland on July 9 gave Arizona a 52-39 record and 2 1/2-game lead in the division at the All-Star break. Out of the break, Texas and Seattle combined to take 5 out of 6 from the D'Backs at Bank One Ballpark. The lone victory during that stretch came courtesy of righthanded pitcher Geraldo Guzman. In his second major league start, Guzman limited the eventual A.L. West champs to five hits in a 7-0 victory. After sweeping a 2-game set from St. Louis, Arizona dropped 6 of its next 9 games. Still clinging to the division lead, Arizona made a blockbuster trade on July 26, obtaining pitcher Curt Schilling from Philadelphia for infielder Travis Lee and pitchers Omar Daal, Nelson Figueroa and Vicente Padilla. The following night, Arizona enjoyed its most productive offensive night of the season, using 19 hits to defeat the Cardinals in St. Louis, 17-5. On July 28, Schilling made his Arizona debut, limiting the Marlins to six hits in a 4-1 win at Florida.

August provided both a reprieve and the ultimate undoing of the Diamondbacks in 2000. Arizona reeled off a 7-game winning streak in the middle of the month that included series sweeps in Philadelphia and at home against the Cubs. Schilling and Johnson both tossed complete games in the Chicago series, but even with the win ning streak, the Diamondbacks were unable to get back into first, still sitting a half-game out after the Cubs left town. It was the next series, a 3-game home set with Milwaukee, that proved to be the beginning of the end. The Brewers pulled off a stunning sweep, including a defeat of Schilling in the series finale. Greg Colbrunn, playing at first base after Durazo's injury, responded by hitting .425 in August, while Steve Finley hit .330 with 6 home runs. Lefthander Dan Plesac went 3-0 out of the bullpen, with a 1.08 ERA.

Sure-handed Steve Finley earned his second consecutive Rawlings Gold Glove, fourth of his career, for his defensive work in 2000.

A September swoon ended the Diamondbacks hopes of a second consecutive division title. Atlanta's 3-game sweep at Turner Field early in the month pushed the Diamondbacks 8 games behind red-hot San Francisco in the N.L. West. The Big Unit eased some of the pain on September 10, when he notched his 3,000th career strikeout at Florida. However, even a run at the Wild Card faded when the Diamondbacks were swept in a 3-game set in the middle of the month at Los Angeles, as the Dodgers scored only 4 runs in pulling off the sweep. The Diamondbacks scored once in the series opener, then were blanked over the final 19 innings of the series.

As had been the case the year before, the National League West crown was decided in San Francisco, only this time it was the Giants doing the celebrating in a win over the Diamondbacks. San Francisco's 8-7 victory in the series opener at Pac Bell Park gave the Giants the title, although Arizona ended up winning 3 games in the 5-game set.

A finally healthy Matt Williams turned in his best month of the season in September, batting .315 with 6 home runs and 20 RBI, while Craig Counsell, who had seen his playing time increase due to Tony Womack's knee injury, batted .357. Matt Mantei also rebounded to post saves in 6 of the club's 12 September victories, allowing opponents to bat just .118 over 10.0 innings.

Despite the struggles, the Diamondbacks earned their share of postseason honors. Johnson earned his second consecutive National League Cy Young Award, posting a 19-7 record, with a 2.64 ERA (second in the National League), while striking out a league-leading 347 batters, and tying teammate Schilling for the league lead in complete games with 8. The Big Unit tied Greg Maddux for the N.L. lead in shutouts with 3, and limited opponents to a .224 batting average. Steve Finley overcame late season injuries to earn his second consecutive Rawlings Gold Glove. Johnson and Gonzalez were selected National League Player-of-the-Week during the season, with Gonzalez taking the honors twice. Johnson earned the starting assignment for the National League in the All-Star Game in Atlanta, with Finley also being selected as a reserve. In November, Johnson and Gonzalez were among 28 members of the Major League Baseball All-Star team that made an 8-game tour of Japan, defeating a team of Japanese All-Stars in the series.

Shadow Mountain High School graduate, Curt Schilling, is acquired from the Phillies in a 5-player exchange on July 26.

2001 - World Title Lands in Arizona

(92-70, First in N.L. West - World Series Champs)

Brenly's troops defeat Yankees in seven-game thriller
Johnson/Schilling co-World Series MVP's

A season that began full of question marks ended with the most emphatic exclamation point imaginable as the Diamondbacks went from potential contender in the spring of 2001 to Champions of the first World Series ever staged in the month of November.

New manager Bob Brenly wanted a more relaxed atmosphere for a clubhouse still comprised of mostly veteran players, and he was aided in that cause by the winter signing of free agent first baseman Mark Grace. The longtime Chicago Cub was brought in to not only solidify the Diamondbacks' infield, but to bring a fresh attitude to a team that had bogged down under the weight of high expectations and mounting injuries the year before.

The Diamondbacks also sought to improve an offense that had struggled throughout 2000. In addition to Grace, who had led the majors in hits during the decade of the 1990's, Arizona signed outfielder Reggie Sanders, who brought with him a booming bat that had been slowed by injuries the season prior while a member of the Atlanta Braves. Arizona would also benefit from a full season's production of 2 of the game's most dominant pitchers, Randy Johnson and Curt Schilling. Still, the experts had the Diamondbacks pegged anywhere from first to third with a lot of concerns about age as the season began.

In the season's first month, Arizona started slowly. After giving their new manager a win in the season opener at Los Angeles and a series win by taking 2 of 3 from the Dodgers, the Diamondbacks returned home, only to be swept in a 3-game set by St. Louis. The night after the Cardinals series, Diamondback fans were treated to a classic pitcher's duel, as Curt Schilling bested Kevin Brown and the Dodgers, 2-0, in a game that took only 1 hour and 55 minutes to complete.

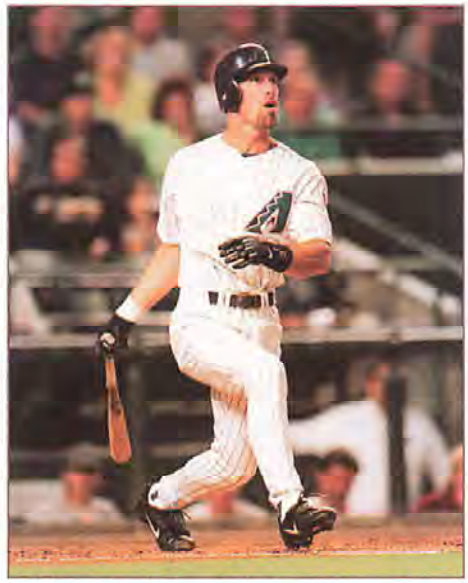
Sanders roared out of the starting gates, batting .344 in April, hitting 8 home runs, including a walk-off shot on April 20 to beat Colorado. The next day, Sanders hit his first career grand slam as part of a 2-homer game in a 10-5 Diamondback win. Sanders' power output paled in comparison to teammate Luis Gonzalez, who tied a major league record by hitting 13 home runs in the month, earning National League Player-of-the-Month honors in the process. The pitching staff was bolstered by Schilling, who went 3-0 in April, and by a surprising face, righthander Robert Ellis. A non-roster invitee in the spring, Ellis stepped into the starting rotation after injuries claimed Bobby Witt and Brian Anderson, and posted a 3-0 record, including a 6.0 inning effort in a 2-1 debut win at St. Louis on April 16.

Injuries, which had derailed Arizona's pennant hopes in 2000, became a factor again as closer Matt Mantei suffered a capsule strain of the right elbow on April 25. The injury eventually required season-ending "Tommy John" surgery.

Randy Johnson added yet another accomplishment to an already long list on the night of May 8, when he struck out 20 Cincinnati Reds at Bank One Ballpark to tie a major league record for 9 innings of work. Johnson, however, was not involved in the decision, though the Diamondbacks pulled out a 4-3 win in 11 innings.

The Diamondbacks hit their stride in May, going 18-10, including a 13-6 mark at home. Arizona moved from third place at the start of the month to first place in the N.L. West by month's end. The key was an 8-2 record against division competition, and the start of a 9-game winning streak that would go into June. Gonzalez continued to sizzle at the plate, batting .339 for the month, with 7 home runs, and Grace drove in 23 runs while hitting .345. In addition to Johnson's record-setting performance, Arizona pitchers had a strong month overall, setting team monthly records for runs allowed (88) and ERA (2.75). Rookie Bret Prinz, called up to replace the injured Mantei, picked up 4 saves while recording a 0.82 ERA. Schilling also continued to dominate, going 5-1 for the month.

Near the end of May, Arizona was locked in the longest game in franchise history, an 18-inning marathon in San Francisco, that was scoreless until Erubiel Durazo's RBI double in the top of the 18th just after 1:00 a.m.



All-Star outfielder and World Series hero Luis Gonzalez keeps an eye on one of his club record 57 home runs in 2001.

A winning streak against division foes that began in late May carried into June, as Arizona reeled off 9 in a row, all against N.L. West foes. An 18-9 record in June pushed Arizona to a 6-game lead in the N.L. West. Gonzalez earned his second National League Player-of-the-Month Award of the still not half over season, batting .417 with 12 home runs and 35 driven in. In the process, Gonzalez set team monthly records in 6 offensive categories. His performance was highlighted by a 3-homer game on June 8 in Kansas City, hitting roundtrippers to each part of the outfield. Rookie infielder Junior Spivey, called up earlier in the month, tied a club record with a 5-hit game at Colorado on June 21.

Johnson and Schilling combined to go 9-1 for the month, while as a team, Arizona hit .300. The D'Backs tied a team record with 12 home wins in June.

As strong as they were in June, the Diamondbacks found an equal amount of trouble in July, going 11-15. The club went into the All-Star Break on a downward slide, losing 5 out of 6, including being swept at home by Oakland, a series in which Arizona managed just 2 runs. It took a Danny Bautista leadoff single in the eighth to break up Mark Mulder's bid for a perfect game in the series opener, while Tim Hudson and Barry Zito continued the dominance in the remaining games. An 11-game road trip out of the break saw the Diamondbacks go 6-5, yet their division lead shrunk to 1 1/2 games, and the lead turned into a deficit after Arizona was swept in a 4-game home set by San Francisco. After beating Montreal on July 31, Arizona stood a half-game out of the lead.

The Diamondback logo took on a patriotic look behind home plate at Bank One Ballpark following the tragedies of September 11, 2001.

Johnson remained a steady force during the month, and continued to make history. On July 18, Arizona's game at San Diego had to be suspended when a transformer in Qualcomm Stadium exploded. The game was resumed as part of a doubleheader the next day, with Johnson coming on in "relief" of Curt Schilling. Johnson struck out 16 Padres, setting a major league record for most strikeouts in a relief appearance. In addition, the Big Unit limited the Padres to 1 hit over 7.0 innings in a 3-0 Diamondbacks win. For the month, Johnson went 3-0. The closer's role had been given to righthander Byung-Hyun Kim, who picked up 4 saves. It was another strong month at the plate for Gonzalez, who batted .310 with 9 home runs.

In an attempt to bolster a pitching staff hit by injuries, the Diamondbacks acquired righthanded pitcher Albie Lopez from Tampa Bay on July 25.

Johnson, Schilling and Gonzalez were selected to the National League All-Star Game, and Gonzalez was selected to participate in the Home Run Derby the night before the midsummer classic in Seattle. Gonzo, who had been voted by fans to the N.L. starting lineup, knocked off Sammy Sosa in the finals to take home a surprise victory. Schilling had been selected by N.L. Manager Bobby Valentine to start the game, but citing the fact he would be pitching in Anaheim 3 days later, deferred to Johnson, who made his second consecutive start, and the eighth appearance of his career.

With the season hanging in the balance, Arizona righted itself in August, and the night of August 10 can be targeted as the specific date things got put back on track. After dropping 2 out of 3 in Florida, and with a weekend series with the Braves in Atlanta next, Curt Schilling delivered a masterpiece, blanking the Braves on 6 hits over 7.0 innings, with Spivey and Grace both collecting 2 hits in a 7-0 win. Arizona went on to sweep the 3-game set, with Spivey delivering another 5-hit game in the series finale, becoming the 50th rookie all-time to have a pair of 5-hit games in his first season.

Danny Bautista slides head-first at home plate on Tony Womack's game-ending single that staked the Diamondbacks to a 2-1 victory over the Cardinals, propelling Arizona into the NLCS against Atlanta.

Johnson hit the record books again in August, becoming the first pitcher in history to have 4 consecutive 300-plus strikeout seasons by fanning his 300th victim on August 23 in Pittsburgh. Johnson went 5-1 for the month, coupled with Schilling's 4-1 mark. The pitching staff set monthly records in strikeouts (227) and fewest home runs allowed (20). Gonzalez and Sanders each hit 10 homers in the month, with Sanders batting .322. By month's end, the Diamondbacks were back in first place by 4 games.

A pair of heartbreaking 1-run losses in San Diego opened September, but baseball took a back seat on September 11 due to the terrorists attacks. A week-long postponement of games would push the regular season into the first week of October. When play resumed on September 17, the Diamondbacks' game at Colorado was both a game and somber tribute to those who had lost their lives and the public servants who put their lives on the line to help others. On the field, Arizona maintained a steady lead on San Francisco, despite dropping

2 of 3 at Pacific Bell. The lone win was Curt Schilling's 20th of the season, making him the franchise's first 20-game winner. Johnson followed him on September 27, making the duo the first 20-win teammates since 1999.

Luis Gonzalez' magic season continued, as he became the 26th player in history to go over 400 total bases in a season on September 29. The night before, Gonzalez' 11th inning walk-off homer gave Arizona a huge 4-3 win over Los Angeles.

The Diamondbacks used the final week of the season, rescheduled due to the terrorist attacks, to clinch their second N.L. West title in 3 years. After a 3-game home sweep of the Rockies, the club traveled to Milwaukee, where Albie Lopez tossed a 3-hit complete-game for a 5-0 victory. Later, much later that night (1:00 a.m. local time), the Giants lost at home, giving the Diamondbacks the title. After an emotional rollercoaster of a season, and the events that shook the nation, Arizona and its fans had been through plenty. The ride, however, was just getting started.

Craig Counsell, Curt Schilling and David Dellucci surround Luis Gonzalez after his game-winning hit to end the World Series against the Yankees

Arizona defeated St. Louis in the Division Series, 3 games to 2, beat Atlanta in the National League Championship Series, 4 games to 1, and became the fastest team to win a World Series, defeating the New York Yankees in a classic confrontation, 4 games to 3. This historic week climaxed on Sunday, November 4, when Luis Gonzalez looped a single over a drawn-in Yankee infield to cap a 2-run ninth inning rally off of Mariano Rivera and to set off the celebration and bring the Valley of the Sun its first major sports championship.

The series was credited with giving the nation a much-needed break from the tragedy, and reaffirmed baseball's place in the fabric of the country. In addition to being able to raise the Commissioner's Trophy, Diamondback pitchers Randy Johnson and Curt Schilling ended a season in which they dominated as few pitching duos ever had, by being named World Series co-Most Valuable Players.

The accolades continued days later, as the club treated 300,000 fans to a parade through Copper Square, leading to a championship celebration in a packed Bank One Ballpark. In mid-November, Johnson received his third consecutive National League Cy Young Award. Luis Gonzalez earned the Louisville Slugger Silver Slugger Award, and as the World Champions, the Diamondbacks capped their phenomenal season with a visit to the White House to meet President George Bush on December 13.

Randy Johnson and Curt Schilling raise the World Series Most Valuable Player award after sharing the honor by going a combined 4-0 with a 1.40 ERA during the Fall Classic. They were also named Co-Sportsmen of the Year by Sports Illustrated.

2002 - Third Division Crown in Five Years

(98-64, First in N.L. West)

Late-season injuries contribute to early first round playoff exit
Johnson lands fourth straight Cy Young honor

With hardly a chance to catch its collective breath, the Arizona Diamondbacks entered 2002 as baseball's defending World Champions, intent on making it two titles in as many years. Unfortunately, the injury bug bit hard and the Diamondbacks stayed afloat long enough to clinch a third National League West crown, but found themselves eliminated in three straight games of the Division Series against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Knowing that standing pat would mean falling behind, the Diamondbacks made moves to bolster its pitching depth, signing free agent righthanded starter Rick Helling, and trading for lefthanded relief specialist Mike Myers. Helling, who had been Texas' staff ace the past four seasons, was set to join a starting rotation that already featured that dominant duo of Randy Johnson and Curt Schilling, while Myers would be used to go against left-handed hitters in late-game situations.

However, as had been the case two years before, injuries would dictate the fortunes of the 2002 D'Backs, and, like 2000, it started in the spring.

Third baseman Matt Williams, who had battled various injuries the previous two seasons, but had rebounded to be a productive force in the 2001 World Series, broke his left fibula while taking ground balls on February 25 in Tucson. The injury would keep Williams out of action until July 10. In the meantime, Craig Counsell stepped in and thrived in his new role as everyday third baseman. Counsell hit .292 in the season's first month, while providing stellar defense at the hot corner.

Jay Bell also went down with a right calf injury in the spring, clearing the way for Junior Spivey to become a bonafide star. Spivey, who was expected to open the season at Tucson (AAA), instead became the everyday second baseman. He opened the season by batting .323 in April, while tying for second in the National League in doubles, and placing himself in the top ten in multi-hit games, hits, extra-base hits and hit-by-pitches. Damian Miller also had a strong April with 22 RBI's in the first month. Johnson and Schilling picked up where they left off, with Johnson posting a 6-0 mark, and Schilling going 5-1. Johnson earned the National League Pitcher-of-the-Month award for April, becoming the first pitcher ever to post 6 wins prior to May 1 in 2 different seasons (1999).

Schilling turned in April's pitching highlight, tossing a 1-hitter at Milwaukee on April 7, while striking out 17. Johnson also had a 17-strikeout game on April 21 against Colorado, marking the first time teammates had 17-K games in the same season. While Byung-Hyun Kim notched 5 saves in the closer's role, Myers also picked up a pair of his own. As a team, the Diamondbacks were tied with Los Angeles for the N.L. West lead at month's end, with a 16-10 mark.

Arizona took sole possession of the division lead in May, posting an 18-10 ledger that included a 12-5 record at home, closing out the month by taking 6 of 10 games from their closest pursuers in the N.L. West. Schilling earned National League Pitcher-of-the-Month honors for the third time in the last 4 seasons by posting a 5-0 record with a 2.80 ERA. Spivey continued his torrid hitting, batting .333 for the month with 4 home runs, while moving into a tie for the league lead in triples. Erubiel Durazo, who had missed the first 6 weeks of the season with a broken wrist, made an immediate impact on the club when he returned. In his second game back on May 17, Durazo hit a trio of 2-run homers against the Phils, while setting team records in RBI (9) and total bases (14).

Craig Counsell provided solid defense and clutch hitting before a neck injury ended his season on August 9.

The injury bug bit yet again on May 22, when Danny Bautista suffered a season-ending shoulder injury just months after earning the everyday role thanks to his 2001 post-season work.

June was a month of extremes. At the beginning of the month, the Diamondbacks swept an interleague series at Boston's Fenway Park on a road trip that included a return to Yankee Stadium, where Arizona salvaged the final game of a 3-game set. By the end of the month, the club needed wins in 2 of 3 games at Cleveland to earn a split of a road trip in which they had dropped 2 of 3 in Houston.

Quinton McCracken, signed as a minor league free agent in the spring, saw increased playing time due to the Bautista injury, and responded with a .403 batting average for the month. Matt Mantei returned to active duty after missing over a year due to "Tommy John" surgery, making his first appearance June 28 at Cleveland.

Curt Schilling recorded a career-high 23 wins and joined Randy Johnson as the only teammates in history to achieve 300 strikeouts in the same season.

The All-Star break was just what the D'Backs needed. After entering the break 2 1/2 games out of first, Arizona posted a 14-6 mark for the remainder of July, and used the club's first-ever 7-0 homestand to move back into first place by 5 games. The Diamondback pitching staff reeled off a 31-inning scoreless streak during the homestand, while Luis Gonzalez batted .340 for the month.

Arizona took control of the division race in August with a 19-10 mark, including a 10-4 road record, highlighted by a 4-game sweep of the Mets at Shea Stadium. Consecutive sweeps of Florida and Cincinnati led to an 8-game winning streak. Curt Schilling's win over the Cubs on August 16 made him a 20-game winner for the second consecutive year, while Byung-Hyun Kim went 3-0 with 6 saves. However, another player was lost to injury, as infielder Craig Counsell was sidelined on August 9 due to a pinched nerve in his neck. The injury eventually required season-ending surgery.

The Big Unit stood tall once again, delivering the first "Triple Crown" of his major league career, leading the league in wins, ERA and strikeouts to earn his fourth consecutive Cy Young Award.

September was difficult and costly, as the Diamondbacks struggled to clinch their third division title in four years, with yet another injury adding to the difficulty. Luis Gonzalez suffered a separated shoulder while attempting to make a sliding catch of a foul ball of the bat of former high school teammate Tino Martinez on September 23 in St. Louis. Just two days earlier, lefthanded pitcher Brian Anderson was sidelined for the remainder of the campaign with a broken bone in his left foot. The N.L. West title was finally claimed on the next-to-last day of the season with a home win over Colorado, marking the first time the Diamondbacks were able to clinch a division crown in front of the home fans.

During the month, Steve Finley collected his 2,000th career hit, and Schilling joined Johnson on the 300-strikeout list for the season, marking the first time in baseball history that one team had a pair of 300-strikeout pitchers.

Battered and bruised, the Diamondbacks could not match up against St. Louis in the Division Series and were swept in three straight.

Johnson's career best 24-5 record earned him a fourth consecutive National League Cy Young Award, only the second pitcher in major league history to win 4 in a row, joining Greg Maddux (1992-95). During the season, Johnson moved from ninth to fourth on baseball's all-time strikeout list, and joined Schilling as the first teammates to win at least 23 games. Schilling, Gonzalez, Spivey and Damian Miller joined manager Bob Brenly and his coaching staff on the National League All-Star team in Milwaukee. Johnson was selected, but chose not to attend to rest a sore back and prepare for the second half of the season.

2003 - "Baby Backs" Emerge in Injury-Plagued Year

(84-78, Third in N.L. West)

D'Backs record fifth consecutive winning season... Johnson & Schilling miss significant time with injuries

It has been said that a baseball season is a marathon, not a sprint. The greatest evidence of that can be found in the 2003 Arizona Diamondbacks, who rode a roller coaster of emotions, history-making streaks and heart-breaking setbacks. In the process, they gave their fans, and all of baseball, a look at the future, while maintaining a commitment to win in the present.

One of the major themes of the year, as it had been in 2002, was injuries, and it didn't take long for that factor to come to the forefront. On Opening Day, reliever Bret Prinz was lost due to a strained right groin. That day's starting pitcher, Randy Johnson, went on the disabled list April 12 due to an inflamed right knee, an injury that would eventually require surgery.

Fellow starting pitcher Curt Schilling was also bitten hard by the injury bug. Schilling went on the disabled list on April 18 due to an emergency appendectomy, then went back on the shelf at the end of May with broken bone in his pitching hand. The bullpen lost Mike Koplove and Matt Mantei for extended periods, with Koplove missing the final 3 1/2 months of the season.

Among position players, it was even worse. Infielder Craig Counsell required right thumb surgery in May, and would miss two months. No fewer than 4 players, including 3 starters, went down in the month of June alone. In all, 646 games were missed by 16 players, 8 pitchers and 8 position players, at various points during the 2003 season.

As a result, the Diamondbacks leaned heavily on a farm system that had been cultivated over 7 years by General Manager Joe Garagiola Jr. and his staff. That system produced in a way that no one outside of the Diamondbacks offices ever predicted or gave the organization credit for.

A total of 13 rookies made their debut in Diamondbacks uniforms in 2003, the fifth-highest total of first-year players in the majors, yet many of those players took a team that had struggled through the first two months of the season, and helped lift Arizona into contention for a third consecutive National League West Division title. The most impressive contribution was made by a trio of righthanded pitchers who solidified a staff searching for consistency after two of the top pitchers in the game - Johnson and Schilling - went down.

Brandon Webb made 28 starts after being called up from Tucson, posting a 10-9 record and a dazzling 2.84 ERA. Webb held opposing hitters to a paltry .212 average, third-best in the National League. He opened his career with 13 consecutive "quality" starts, the most to open a Major League career since Montreal's Steve Rogers had 16 in 1973. Jose Valverde literally came to Arizona's rescue after Matt Mantei went down with a shoulder injury, contributing 9 saves in 9 chances in June to earn National League Rolaids Pitcher of the Month honors. Oscar Villarreal, who made the club out of spring training, established a National League record for appearances by a rookie with 86, also setting a club record, while his 10 wins in relief broke Gregg Olson's 1999 team record, and tied Webb for the most wins by a Diamondback rookie.

Around the infield, Matt Kata displayed his versatility, as did youngster Alex Cintron, who just missed qualifying as a rookie by a matter of days. Catcher Robbie Hammock made an impression offensively with a .282 average, and defensively with his ability to not only handle a pitching staff, but also to play at several other positions, including third base and the outfield.

With a revolving door attached to the 25-man roster, the Diamondbacks stumbled out of the gate, dropping 11 of their first 14 games. The club hovered just below the .500 mark for the first two months of the year. At the end of May, Garagiola engineered a trade designed to jump-start a stagnant offense, sending right-handed pitcher Byung-Hyun Kim to Boston for infielder Shea Hillenbrand. An American League All-Star in 2002, the Mesa Community College product's arrival coincided with a surge that would see the Diamondbacks vault back into contention.

Area product Shea Hillenbrand was acquired from the Red Sox in late-May and provided punch to the lineup.

Arizona posted a 20-6 mark in June, highlighted by a club-record 12-game winning streak that began on June 18 in Houston. By the time it ended on July 1 in Colorado, the Diamondbacks were 9 games above .500, had shaved 5 games off their deficit in the division, and a week later would be in second place.

The club would remain in second place for the next 6 weeks, but would lose ground to the division-leading Giants. Over a stretch of 11 games in mid-July, Arizona dropped 6 of 7 to San Francisco, including a 4-game sweep in Pac Bell Park, effectively ending the Diamondbacks' chances at an N.L. West 3-peat.

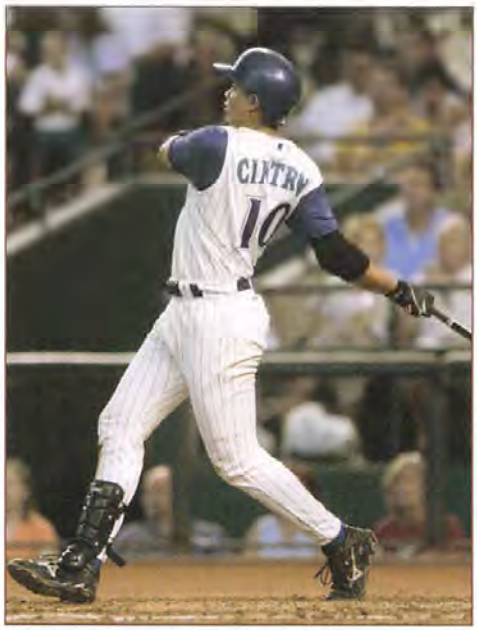
The pursuit of the Wild Card remained, and near the trading deadline, the Diamondbacks acquired slugging outfielder Raul Mondesi from the New York Yankees in exchange for pitcher Bret Prinz, outfielder David Dellucci, and minor league catcher Jon-Mark Sprowl. Ironically, the trade occurred as Arizona was being swept in Florida by the eventual World Champion Marlins in a series in which the need for Mondesi was evident, as the Diamondbacks plated only 4 runs in the 3 games.

While Arizona remained a factor in the Wild Card race, they could never sustain enough momentum to overtake the Marlins or Phillies, who traded the coveted post-season spot through the final 2 months of the regular campaign.

A mid-September surge kept the Diamondbacks in the Wild Card race until the final week of the season, and insured the club of its fifth consecutive winning season, one of only three National League clubs that can lay claim to that distinction.

Brandon Webb won Baseball America's Rookie-of-the-Year award and finished third in the BBWAA balloting, going 10-9 with the National League's fourth best ERA at 2.84.

2003 also marked the end of two of baseball's great playing careers. In early June, Matt Williams ended his 17-year career in a Diamondbacks uniform, with his last at bat a pinch RBI single in San Diego to help Arizona beat the Padres on May 31. He was designated for assignment and subsequently released to make room for Hillenbrand. Prior to the final series of the regular season, Mark Grace announced his intention to retire after a 16-year Major League career, going 2-for-3 in his final start on September 27, and appearing as a defensive replacement a day later.



Alex Cintron led the "Baby Backs" attack by establishing himself as an everyday player, hitting .317 with 13 home runs in 117 games

Garagiola wasted little time in revamping the Arizona roster for 2004, with an eye towards adding more power to the offense and giving more opportunities to the young players who had distinguished themselves over the summer. Pitcher Curt Schilling was dealt to Boston on November 28 for pitchers Casey Fossum and Brandon Lyon, then just 3 days later, slugger Richie Sexson and pitcher Shane Nance were acquired from Milwaukee in exchange for 6 players.

Luis Gonzalez is greeted at home plate by Steve Finley and Carlos Baerga after one of his team-leading 26 home runs in 2003.

2004 - Long Summer Leads to Off-Season Overhaul

(51-111, Fifth in N.L. West)

Big Unit's perfect game in Atlanta highlights otherwise tough season

As the saying goes, "change is inevitable," and for the Arizona Diamondbacks, 2004 marked a dramatic series of changes that affected the organization from the front office to the dugout.

The season began with high hopes and expectations, as first baseman Richie Sexson, obtained in a trade with Milwaukee, was expected to add punch to an offense that lacked power the year before. However, injuries nearly wiped out every phase of the Diamondback attack.

After a slow start, the club began to show its potential during a late-April home series against the Chicago Cubs. Arizona won the first two games of the three-game set by a combined score of 19-1. Sexson capped the fireworks in a 9-0 series opening win by clobbering a 503-foot homer off of Bank One Ballpark's Jumbotron. It was the longest home run in B.O.B. history, but as it turned out, it was the last Sexson would hit as a D'Back.

Two nights later, a check swing resulted in Sexson suffering a partial dislocation of his left shoulder. The slugger attempted to come back in late May, but re-aggravated the injury in his second game back at Florida, forcing season-ending surgery.

Sexson wasn't the first Diamondback to head to the disabled list. Second baseman Roberto Alomar fractured his right hand in mid-April in Milwaukee. After Sexson, two vital parts of the bullpen, Oscar Villarreal and Matt Mantei, both had their seasons ended in mid-May. At the end of May, infielder Matt Kata suffered a left shoulder dislocation diving for a ball at Dodger Stadium. More injuries followed, as the Diamondbacks scrambled to keep 25 players in uniform.

With the players Arizona counted on to contribute on the field filling up the disabled list, the young players on the farm waiting for an opportunity got their chance. Third baseman Chad Tracy made his Major League debut in Milwaukee on April 22, going 4-for-8 in an 11-9, 15-inning win. Fellow infielder Scott Hairston spent four days in early May with the big club, then rejoined the D'Backs for the remainder of the season a week later. In June, Hairston played at Baltimore against his brother, Jerry Jr., going 2-for-5 at Oriole Park in Camden Yards on June 8, including a double that his brother had to track down in left field.

Outfielder Luis Terrero went from batting .313 at Tucson to leading the Diamondbacks in stolen bases (10) and bunt hits (6). Alan Zinter, who had logged over 1,500 games in the minor leagues, played in 28 contests for the Diamondbacks, highlighted by a walk-off, two-run homer to give Arizona a 9-8, 11-inning win over Milwaukee on September 28.

Once Sexson went down, Shea Hillenbrand was asked to move from third to first base, and as he learned a new defensive position, his offense remained steady. Hillenbrand led the club with a .310 batting average, while driving in a team-leading 80 runs. Hillenbrand became the focal point of the offense when the club dealt outfielder Steve Finley, along with catcher Brent Mayne, to the Los Angeles Dodgers, for a trio of young players, led by catcher Koyie Hill. Ironically, Hill was lost for the season due to injury when he fractured his right ankle in a collision with Pittsburgh's Ty Wigginton on August 17th.

Once again, the Diamondbacks were forced to look to the farm, and Chris Snyder came up from El Paso (AA) to handle the bulk of the catching duties, while hitting 5 home runs.

On the mound, righthander Greg Aquino took advantage of an opportunity presented when Jose Valverde went on the disabled list in mid-June and emerged as the club's closer with a team-leading 16 saves, best among National League rookies. Aquino was part of a bullpen where change was the only constant. A total of 19 pitchers served in relief roles, led by righthander Mike Koplove's 76 appearances.

The starting rotation also went through change, but not at the top. Randy Johnson added more to an already stellar resume, notching three significant milestones. On May 18, the 40-year-old lefthander tossed the 17th perfect game in Major League history by shutting down the Braves in Atlanta. Six weeks later, Johnson's strikeout of San Diego's Jeff Cirillo in the eighth inning made him just the fourth pitcher in Major League history to strikeout 4,000 batters. On September 15th, Johnson moved into third place on the all-time strikeout list and passed Steve Carlton for most strikeouts by a lefthanded pitcher when he fanned Colorado's Vinny Castilla in the seventh inning.

Through all the struggles his team had on the field, Johnson had a year worthy of Cy Young consideration, posting a 16-14 record. His ERA of 2.60 was second in the National League, and he led the Majors with 290 strikeouts.

The rest of the rotation struggled as the offense was often unable to back up strong efforts. Righthander Brandon Webb's sophomore year was a prime example of the problem. Webb's won-loss record of 7-16 stood in contrast to his 3.59 ERA.

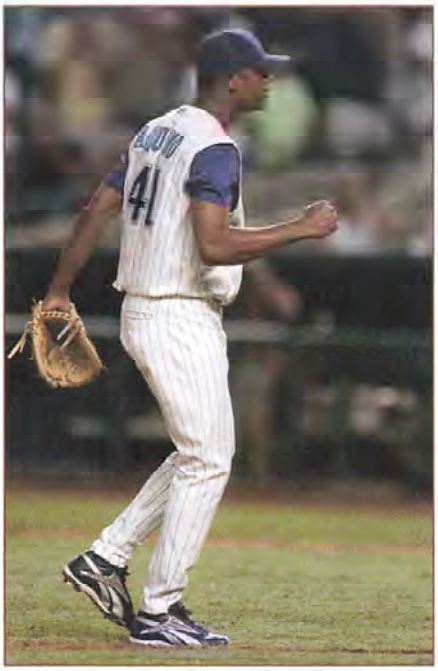
As was the case with position players, the struggles of the starting rotation created opportunities for youngsters who showed promise. In particular, lefthander Michael Gosling, who joined the club in September and went 1-1 with a 4.62 ERA. Gosling's win came in St. Louis on September 19th, a 3-2 victory over the eventual National League champions.

Change wasn't limited to the playing roster. On July 2nd, Bob Brenly was dismissed as manager and replaced by third base coach Al Pedrique. Five weeks later, Jerry Colangelo announced he would be leaving his post as Chief Executive Officer at season's end, to be replaced by Jeff Moorad.

Diamondbacks' management quickly worked to change the team's immediate fortunes, eventually naming Bob Melvin, the club's bench coach during its World Championship season in 2001, as manager. Melvin's coaching staff would include former Diamondback Jay Bell as bench coach.

Chad Tracy was one of the bright spots in a tough year for Arizona, batting .285 in 143 games during his rookie season.

The roster also got an immediate boost from the signings of free agent infielder Troy Glaus, righthanded pitcher Russ Ortiz and infielders Royce Clayton and crowd favorite Craig Counsell, a member of Arizona's back-to-back N.L. West championship clubs in 2001-2002, including MVP honors in the '01 National League Championship Series against Atlanta.



Greg Aquino recorded a rookie club record 16 saves in his first-ever big league experience.

The transformation was not limited to the calendar year of 2004, as this past January the D'Backs added outfielder Shawn Green, obtained in a trade with the Los Angeles Dodgers. The acquisition of Green completed a series of transactions that also landed All-Star pitcher Javier Vazquez and promising lefthander Brad Halsey, while the Randy Johnson era ended in Arizona as he was dealt to the New York Yankees. The Diamondbacks also signed free agent lefthanded pitcher Shawn Estes, first baseman Tony Clark and acquired Jose Cruz, Jr. from Tampa Bay in exchange for Casey Fossum.

Arizona's busy off-season of revamping the roster kicked off with the signing of Troy Glaus, who was introduced at a Bank One Ballpark press conference on December 9.

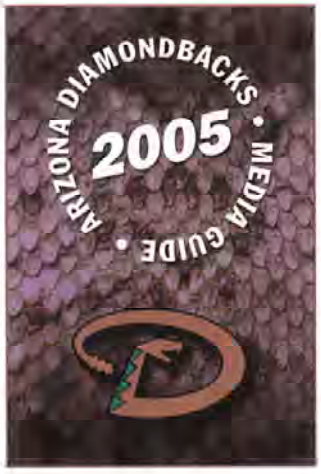
2005 - D'Backs Rebound for Second Place Finish

(77-85, Second in N.L. West)

Bob Melvin returns to Valley as manager and engineers a 26-game reversal of fortune

To understand the significance of the 2005 Arizona Diamondbacks, you only need to look back one year. The 2005 Diamondbacks took on a different look, from players to manager to coaching staff, and produced a 26-game improvement in the win column. A team that was mired in the basement of the National League West in 2004 stood in first place on the last day of July. Despite finishing the campaign 77-85, the nightmare of the previous year was wiped away by a team that finished in second place, five games behind the eventual division-winning Padres.



Bob Melvin returned to the organization as Manager, and found a roster that had dramatic improvements in terms of run production and defense. Free-agent Troy Glaus led a power-laden attack with 37 home runs and 97 runs batted in. He was far from a solo act, as Arizona 6 different players who hit 20 or more home runs.

On the mound, Arizona saw a dramatic improvement in several areas. Starters won 21 more games over a year ago. Three different closers earned double-digit saves. Four more shutouts were thrown. A lot of that can be tied to an improvement in team defense. The D'Backs turned 32 more double plays than they had in 2004, and they were one of four teams in the National League to finish tied for second with a .985 fielding percentage. To put it more bluntly, Arizona fielders, led by the middle infield combo of shortstop Royce Clayton and second baseman Craig Counsell, committed 45 fewer errors.

Counsell was joined by first baseman Tony Clark as two of the best stories of the 2005 Diamondbacks. Rejoining the team that helped him earn Most Valuable Player honors in the 2001 National League Championship Series, Counsell did exactly what many expected him to do in stabilizing the infield defense. What he added at the plate was career-highs in home runs (9) and stolen bases (26). Counsell proved to be an ideal leadoff hitter, reaching base in 121 of his 149 games.

Clark was perhaps the steal of the winter in terms of free agents. Signed just three weeks before the opening of spring training camp, Clark finished second on the squad in batting (.304), home runs (30) and RBI (87), while playing most of the first half of the season in a reserve role. Clark joined teammate Alex Cintron and Cincinnati's Jacob Cruz as the majors' top pinch-hit home run hitters, each with 3.

The real steal of the season, however, was the waiver claim the Diamondbacks made on June 3, picking up righthander Claudio Vargas from Washington. As a Diamondback, Vargas went 9-6, including a stretch of 11 starts from June 21-August 18, in which he went 7-2 with a 2.82 ERA.

Righthander Javier Vazquez, obtained from the Yankees in the Randy Johnson trade, made 33 starts for Arizona, going 11-15. Vazquez established a club record with a streak of 220 consecutive batters faced and 54.1 innings pitched without allowing a walk from April 25-June 9

The Diamondbacks started strong, using a 6-game winning streak in to move into first place on April 27. Glaus hit 7 home runs in the month while driving in 18. Outfielder Luis Gonzalez drove in 16, while batting .300. Righthander Brandon Lyon emerged as a strong closer, saving 10 games in 13 appearances.

They spent the next month battling San Diego for the top spot in the NL West, never falling farther behind than 3.0 games on the final day of the month. May also featured a strong 10-game road trip in which Arizona won 7 games.

The Diamondbacks struggled overall in the month of June, but 2 of their 9 wins in the month came during the club's first-ever visit to Chicago's south side, winning a 3-game series against the eventual World Champions. The 2 wins were both blowouts, with Arizona outscoring the White Sox by a combined score of 18-5.

Arizona maintained second place throughout July until winning three out of four at Wrigley Field at month's end to move into a first-place tie with two months of baseball left. During that same series, Conor Jackson made his Diamondback debut. The heralded prospect, who had dominated at the plate throughout his ascension through the club's farm system, had an RBI double in his first Major League start on July 30 in a 3-2 Arizona win.

August proved to be the month that sealed the Diamondbacks' fate in 2005. A 13-game road trip through Florida, Atlanta, St. Louis and Cincinnati, coupled with being swept in a 4-game series at home by the New York Mets put the club 6 1/2 games behind the Padres. The final month of the season was spent fighting off the Giants and Dodgers. The D'Backs reeled off a season-high 7-game winning streak during the final week of the season and recorded 10 wins in the final 12 affairs to secure a second place finish.

One other area of improvement, not so coincidentally, was health. After over 1,500 missed games due to player injuries in 2004, that number was cut by nearly two-thirds in 2005.

Claudio Vargas joined the Diamondbacks in June as a waiver claim from the Nationals and posted 9 wins.

Lyon missed 3 months due to a right elbow strain, and with him gone, Jose Valverde, a member of the 2003 "Baby Backs" returned to the closers role, and responded by notching a team-leading 15 saves. Starting pitchers Shawn Estes and Russ Ortiz both 2 months each, with Ortiz going on the DL for the first time in his 8-year Major League career.

The Diamondbacks also said farewell to the franchise's first General Manager in 2005, as Joe Garagiola, Jr., left in mid-August to accept a Vice Presidency with Major League Baseball. Bob Gebhard, the Senior Vice President and Special Assistant to the General Manager and former General Manager of the Colorado Rockies, took over the reigns on an interim basis to closeout the '05 regular season.

On October 28, the club named Josh Byrnes as Senior Vice President/General Manager. Byrnes, who arrived in Arizona after serving as Assistant General Manager with the Boston Red Sox, and his newly-formed staff immediately went to work, turning over a roster that witnessed the acquisition of switch-hitting catcher, Johnny Estrada, and Rawlings Gold Glove infielder, Orlando Hudson, as well as marking the return of Miguel Batista to Arizona. Byrnes also accommodated Javier Vazquez's wintertime trade request by moving him to the Chicago White Sox for righthanded starter Orlando "El Duque" Hernandez, righthanded reliever Luis Vizcaino and minor league outfielder Chris Young.

Kendall Carter

National Supervisor

Kendall Carter returns for his 10th season as the Diamondbacks' National Supervisor. He joined Arizona in 1996, serving one year as the club's Western Region National Supervisor. He previously worked as the West Area Scout for the Seattle Mariners from 1991-1995.

After signing with the Texas Rangers as their 14th round selection of the 1984 June draft, Kendall spent two seasons pitching for Texas' Class A affiliates in the Midwest and Florida State Leagues.

An Arizona native, Carter capped his high school career at Scottsdale Coronado High School with Class AAA Player-of-the-Year honors in 1980. Kendall then attended Arizona State University where he compiled a 47-9 ledger from 1981-84. He holds the school record with 102 career appearances while tying the school mark with 47 career wins and the single-season record with 19 wins in 1981. Kendall set an NCAA freshman record for victories as he went 19-1 in 1981 while leading the Sun Devils to the National Championship and notching first team All-America honors.

Following his playing days, Carter returned to Arizona State from 1986-90. Serving primarily as the recruiting coordinator, he was also an assistant coach for the Sun Devils. In the fall of 2001, Carter was inducted into the ASU Athletic Hall of Fame. He was also inducted into the City of Scottsdale Sports Hall of Fame in February of 2002.

Ed Durkin

Eastern Supervisor

Ed Durkin enters his seventh season as the Diamondbacks' Eastern Regional Supervisor, his 10th overall season as a member of Arizona's scouting department. He held the title of Professional Scouting Coordinator from September of 1996-1998, a role that had him heavily involved in the 1997 Major League Expansion Draft for the Diamondbacks.

Durkin has amassed 20 years of scouting experience. He started as a part-time scout in 1986 with Milwaukee before serving as a full-time scout from 1988-92 and a National Crosschecker (Eastern) from 1993-96. He makes his home in Palm Harbor, Florida.

Steve McAllister

Central Supervisor

Steve McAllister returns for a second year in the role of Central Supervisor. He worked as a full-time scount in the Midwest region from from 2002-2004.

McAllister has been involved in professional baseball–first as a player and then as a scout–for the past 25 years. In 1981, he was drafted out of Bradley University as the Houston Astros' fifth-round selection. He played six seasons in the minor leagues before starting his scouting career. He has previously scouted the Midwest for the Milwaukee Brewers, California Angels and the Boston Red Sox.

Steve is an inductee in both the Chillicothe (IL) High School Athletic Hall of Fame and the Bradley University Athletic Hall of Fame.

Kris Kline

Western Supervisor

Kris Kline enters his third season as Arizona's Western Supervisor after spending his first four years with the Diamondbacks as Central Supervisor. Prior to joining the Arizona, he was a scout for 10 years in the Anaheim Angels organization where he also played four seasons in their minor league system.

Kline was a high school teammate of Diamondbacks' National Supervisor Kendall Carter and was on the Scottsdale Coronado High School Class AAA State Championship Team in 1979. Kris played collegiately at Grand Canyon College and helped lead the Antelopes to the 1982 NAIA National Championship.

International Scouting

Since being awarded a franchise by Major League Baseball, the Diamondbacks have placed a strong emphasis on scouting talent from around the globe. Arizona has scouted and signed players from Australia, Canada, Columbia, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Japan, Korea, Mexico, Netherlands Antilles, Nicaragua, Panama and Venezuela. In addition to inking players from the United States and Puerto Rico, the Diamondbacks have also signed players who previously played in Taiwan.

Junior Noboa was promoted to Director of Latin America Operations on October 31, 2003, after serving as the Latin American Coordinator. He also works as the Director of the Diamondbacks' baseball academy in the Dominican Republic.

He was the organization's first international hire in August, 1995 and a month later signed the organization's first two players. In 1997, he was the first recipient of the Roland Hemond Award, bestowed upon a member of the baseball department who best exemplifies the "Diamondback" approach to their work. In 1999, Noboa signed Geraldo Guzman, a carpenter who had not played professionally since 1992 but went on to pitch in 17 games for the Diamondbacks from 2000-01. Noboa is also responsible for the signings of current Diamondbacks Jose Valverde and Greg Aquino.

Jim Marshall continues to serve as the club's Director of Pacific Rim Operations, a role he has filled since coming on-board in 1996. His main duty is to maintain relations with baseball organizations in Australia, Japan, Korea and Taiwan. He also works as a major league and advance scout for the Diamondbacks.

Marshall played in the big leagues from 1958-62, logging time with the Baltimore Orioles, Chicago Cubs, San Francisco Giants, the original 1962 New York Mets and the Pittsburgh Pirates. He managed the Chicago Cubs from 1974-76 and the Oakland Athletics in 1979.

His first visit to Japan was in 1960 as part of a goodwill tour with the Giants. Three years later, he signed with the Chunichi Dragons of the Japanese Central League and hit .268 with 78 home runs and 252 RBI over three campaigns.

2005 Organization of the Year

The Arizona Diamondbacks were named the "Topps Organization of the Year" for 2005 during the annual Baseball Winter Meetings held last December in Dallas, TX. It was the first such award for the Diamondbacks, who have had a minor league system in place since 1996, with the big league club beginning play two years later.

The Topps Baseball Organization of the Year Award is presented annually to a Major League organization based on the number of players in their system who have received Topps awards during the season. Points are awarded for four different minor league categories including All-Star players, Players of the Month, the Trautman and Taylor Spink Award recipients, and for Major League rookies who made the Topps Rookie All-Star team.

The Diamondbacks' individual winners were: Phil Avlas (August P.O.M. - California League); Lorenzo Cain (Trautman Award - Arizona League); Matt Elliott and Carlos Gonzalez (Class A All-Star Team - Midwest League); Andy Green (Class AAA All-Star Team/Trautman Award - Pacific Coast League); Conor Jackson (Class AAA All-Star Team - Pacific Coast League); Miguel Montero (May P.O.M. - California League); Dustin Nippert (August P.O.M. - Southern League); and Dan Uggla (Class AA All-Star Team - Southern League).

Covering the Diamondbacks

Brandon Webb meets with the media after a January press conference to announce a contract extension.

Diamondback Broadcasters

Thom Brennaman

Television Play-by-Play

One of the most versatile announcers in the industry, Thom Brennaman is in his ninth season with the Diamondbacks. Thom will handle the play-by-play duties on the Diamondbacks Television Network and Fox Sports Net, and will make periodic appearances in the play-by-play chair on KTAR Radio.

In addition to his work with the Diamondbacks, Brennaman continues his role with FOX Network's Major League Baseball telecasts, having served last season as play-by-play announcer for selected Division Series games, as well as the National League Championship Series.

Brennaman joined the Diamondbacks two years before they took the field. He came to Arizona after six years with the Chicago Cubs, working on both WGN Television and Radio. Prior to that, Thom spent two seasons working alongside his father, Hall of Fame broadcaster Marty Brennaman, with the Cincinnati Reds. In addition to calling Reds games on television with Hall of Fame catcher Johnny Bench, Thom spent time as a weekend sports anchor for WLWT-TV, and as morning drive sports anchor on WLW Radio.

A graduate of Ohio University, Thom spent two winters as the voice of Fox Sports Net's Sunday Night Atlantic Coast Conference College Basketball package. Once his 2004 baseball duties were over, Thom returned to work on FOX's NFL Package. This past New Year's Day, he called his sixth consecutive Cotton Bowl for the FOX Network. Thom previously handled University of Cincinnati basketball telecasts, and served as play-by-play announcer for the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament on CBS Radio.

Thom and his wife, Polly, are the proud parents of daughter, Ella Mae (2), and son, Luke (1). The Brennamans reside in Scottsdale with their three dogs, Bear, Wiley and Bora. In their spare time, Thom serves on the board of the Arizona Humane Society, and the Brennamans are also actively involved with Sunshine Acres, a Christian Children's Home.

Greg Schulte

Radio and Television Play-by-Play

Valley sportscasting veteran Greg Schulte is in his ninth year as a play-by-play announcer for the Diamondbacks. Greg will be heard again on the Diamondbacks Radio Network, and will move to the television network when Thom Brennaman is away on his FOX Network assignments on weekends.

Greg's voice will forever be linked with one of baseball's greatest moments, as he delivered the call of Luis Gonzalez' ninth-inning single to win the 7th game of the 2001 World Series.

A part of the Phoenix radio scene since 1979, Greg joined the Diamondbacks after spending 14 years at the Diamondbacks flagship radio station, KTAR. Over that time, Schulte was involved with nearly every major sports entity in the market. He served for 15 seasons with the Phoenix Suns, working with Al McCoy first as producer, and, for the last two seasons, as color commentator. He also served as analyst for Arizona State University football and basketball, and shared play-by-play duties for ASU Baseball. In addition, Greg spent three years as pre and post-game host for the NFL Cardinals broadcasts after they arrived from St. Louis.

Greg is also active in the community, working extensively with the Leukemia-Lymphoma Society.

Prior to his arrival in Arizona, Schulte was sports director at WQUA in Moline, Il, and also handled play-by-play duties for University of Iowa basketball. Greg and his wife Nancy have two children, Scott, born in 1980, and Stephanie, born in 1983, and reside in Glendale.

Mark Grace
Television Analyst

After a distinguished 16-year Major League playing career, Mark Grace made a smooth transition to the broadcast booth, and returns for his 3rd season as the Diamondbacks' television analyst, working alongside Thom Brennaman and Greg Schulte on the Diamondbacks Television Network and Fox Sports Net. Grace will also be heard on selected Diamondbacks Radio Network broadcasts, originating in Phoenix on KTAR Radio.

Grace announced his retirement during the final weekend of the 2003 regular season, ending his career with 2,445 hits, a .303 average, 511 doubles, 173 home runs and 1,146 RBI in 2,245 Major League games. He was a four-time winner of the Rawlings Gold Glove Award, anchoring first base for both the Diamondbacks and Chicago Cubs.

Grace joined the Diamondbacks in 2001, after 13 seasons with the Cubs, and was an integral part of the Diamondbacks' World Championship that year. His single to lead off the ninth inning of Game Seven ignited the rally that led to a 3-2 victory over the New York Yankees. He went 6-for-16 in the 2001 National League Championship Series against Atlanta.

Grace has previous broadcasting experience, having served as analyst for ESPN Radio during the 1999 and 2000 Division Series. Grace is the father of two boys, Jackson (5) and Preston (2), and resides in Paradise Valley.

Tom Candiotti
Radio Analyst

Former Major League pitcher Tom Candiotti joins the Diamondbacks' broadcast team in 2006, and will serve as color analyst for the Diamondbacks' Radio Network.

Candiotti pitched in 451 games over a 16-year Major League career with Milwaukee (1983-84), Cleveland (1986-91, 1999), Toronto (1991), Los Angeles Dodgers (1992-97) and Oakland (1998-99), posting a 151-164 record and a 3.73 career earned run average. Famed for his knuckleball, Candiotti won 10 or more games in 7 different seasons, and pitched in the 1991 American League Championship Series (Toronto) and 1996 National League Division Series (Los Angeles Dodgers).

Following his playing career, Candiotti served as a special assistant to the General Manager with the Indians (2000-01), and established his broadcasting credentials as an analyst with ESPN, both during MLB game coverage and on the set of "Baseball Tonight". While with ESPN, Candiotti also served as an analyst for the network's coverage of the Little League World Series, while also writing a column for ESPN.com.

Candiotti's broadcasting experience also includes serving as a color analyst for Toronto Blue Jays telecasts.

An accomplished bowler, Candiotti regularly participates in Professional Bowlers Association Tour events in Arizona, including the Phoenix event this past January. Tom is the father of three boys, Brett (21), Casey (7) and Clark (5). Tom and his wife, Donna, reside in Paradise Valley.

Jeff Munn
Radio Play-by-Play/Pre and Post-Game Radio Host

Jeff Munn, the Arizona Diamondbacks' Public Address Announcer since the club's inception, becomes a full-time member of the Diamondbacks' broadcast team in 2006, serving as pre and post-game host on the Diamondbacks' Radio Network, while continuing in his role as as the club's radio play-by-play announcer during weekends when Thom Brennaman is away on assignment for FOX, and Greg Schulte is handling television play-by-play duties. Munn has been in the fill-in radio play-by-play role since 2001.

In addition to his work with the Diamondbacks, Munn is also the radio play-by-play voice for Arizona State University Women's Basketball. Munn has also been heard as a fill-in play-by-play announcer on ASU Men's Basketball and Baseball broadcasts. He also serves as the stadium announcer for the Fiesta and Insight Bowls.

Munn attended Arizona State University, majoring in history. He resides in Tempe with his wife of 14 years, Laurie, and their two children, Patrick (10) and Hayley (7).

Joe Garagiola
Television Analyst

Any baseball team would love to have a Hall of Famer available to pinch-hit, and the Diamondbacks have got just that, as Joe Garagiola, a member of the broadcasters' wing of the Baseball Hall of Fame, returns for his ninth season as an analyst. Garagiola will work selected games throughout the 2006 season.

Garagiola has combined insight and humor over five decades of baseball broadcasting, including nearly 25 years on the Saturday Game-of-the-Week telecasts on NBC. In addition, Garagiola spent 11 years as a co-host on NBC's Today Show, as well serving as host of a number of popular game shows.

Garagiola's broadcasting career began shortly after his playing career ended. Joe broke into the major leagues in 1946 as a catcher with the St. Louis Cardinals, and contributed four hits in Game Four of the 1946 World Series, won by the Cardinals in six games. Joe also played with the Chicago Cubs, New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates. Upon retirement in 1954, Garagiola was offered a position on the Cardinals' broadcast team, working with fellow Hall of Famers Harry Caray and Jack Buck. Garagiola would eventually move to the television booth with the New York Yankees, working with the initial co-winner of the Ford C. Frick award, Red Barber. At NBC, Garagiola shared the booth with two more Cooperstown enshrinees, Curt Gowdy and Vin Scully.

A Valley resident, Garagiola has been extremely active in the community and was honored as the 1998 recipient of the Children's MVP Award presented by the Jim Eisenreich Foundation. The award goes to a former player who has made significant contributions to children's causes. He works tirelessly for B.A.T., the Baseball Assistance Team, and is very visible at major league spring training camps, educating players on the evils of spit tobacco.

Garagiola was honored in November of 2001 the Arizona Chamber of Commerce for his work in the community, which includes his efforts on behalf of the St. Peter's Indian Mission in the Gila River Indian Community. Nicknamed "Awesome Fox" by the staff of St. Peter's, the baseball field at St. Peter's School is named "Awesome Fox Field" in his honor.

Steve Pascente
Memorial Press Lounge

Steve Pascente was one of the most dedicated at his craft and died while on location covering football in Washington D.C. His wife, Julie, has kept his memory alive with the Steve Pascente Charitable Foundation, which supports a variety of foundations including Widowed With Children, The Steve Pascente Memorial Scholarships at Arizona State University and The Andre House. When the Diamondbacks opened the 1998 season against the Colorado Rockies, Nick Pascente, the son of Steve and Julie, served as honorary batboy.

Dick Dozer
Memorial Press Box

Dick Dozer spent the majority of his life covering Major League Baseball for the Chicago Tribune, but he was hardly a stranger to the Valley. After leaving the beat of the big leagues, he arrived in Phoenix and wrote for the Gazette, while also contributing his time in organizing the annual "Dream Game," an oldtimers contest that benefitted the Phoenix Memorial Hospital Foundation, and working with the Mesa Ho-Ho-Kams. Dozer was BBWAA Chapter President in 1976. He passed away in 1994, yet his memory lives on daily in the Diamondbacks' front office, as his son, Rich, serves as team President.

Media Coverage Policies

Senior Director - Public Relations — Mike Swanson
Assistant Director - Public Relations — Mike McNally
Media Coordinator - Public Relations — Lynita Johnson
Assistant to the Senior Director - Public Relations — David Pape

It is once again a privilege for our staff to be of assistance as you cover the Arizona Diamondbacks. Chase Field already ranks as one of the premier sports facilities in the world, and our department will do its best to take care of any reasonable requests. Following are the Public Relations policies for the 2006 season. If you have any questions, do not hesitate to ask any member of our staff and we will make every effort to fulfill your needs.

WORKING PRESS CREDENTIALS: Pursuant to Major League Baseball policy, all season credentials issued by the Diamondbacks will include a laminated picture identification. Due to security issues, no member of the media will be allowed access to Chase Field without showing a photo ID. Daily passes will be issued to media members who do not qualify for season credentials. Media who qualify for daily credentials include: freelance writers on a specific assignment for a publication, representatives of weekly and monthly publications working on special coverage, and additional radio and television representatives when the need arises for extra pre-game personnel (i.e. live shots, etc.). Requests for daily credentials must come directly from the affiliation editor, producer, or director, on company letterhead at least 48 hours in advance of the game being requested. Requests may be made via FAX only if the requesting affiliation is currently on file with the P.R. office.

PHOTO CREDENTIALS: Daily photo passes will be issued to photographers on assignment for legitimate news gathering organizations, and representatives of companies licensed by Major League Baseball. Requests for photographer credentials must follow the procedure detailed above. The Arizona Diamondbacks will not issue credentials to freelance photographers. Please remember that priority in all photo areas will be granted to news organizations on nightly deadlines. Field photo space at Chase Field is at a premium and priority for space will be given to daily publications and wire services. There is also a small space designated for in-game photography in the front row of the press box. All photographs taken are to be used for news-gathering purposes or officially licensed products only. Any other use of photographs taken will be considered a violation of existing trademark and copyright restrictions.

AUTOGRAPH POLICY: Credentialed members of the media are prohibited from requesting autographs or equipment on the playing field, in the dugout or in the clubhouse. Any violation of these guidelines will result in immediate revocation of the credential and bar future use.

CLUBHOUSE ACCESS: All credentials will list specific locations in Chase Field where access is permitted. Members of the media must have a specific reason for clubhouse access to gain admittance. The clubhouse is the dressing and preparation area for the players for that day's game and is not a place for the media to congregate. The clubhouse will close 50 minutes prior to the first pitch, and there may be times where the clubhouse will close earlier for team meetings. Generally, no more than a 10-minute "cooling off" period is applied after games. Post-game access to the visiting clubhouse will be determined by the individual club's policies.

FIELD ACCESS: All members of the media with field access provided on their credential will be allowed to conduct interviews during specified times prior to the start of the game. The field must be cleared 50 minutes prior to the beginning of the game, and at no time is the media permitted in fair territory, or outside the first and third base bags. These precautions are for the safety of all involved while batting practice is in progress.

LIVE TRANSMISSIONS: Non-rightsholders are permitted to transmit live reports from Chase Field prior to and after every game. All television live shots must be done in designated areas outside the clubhouse due to space limitations, or on the warning track area outside either dugout. Live television reports by non-rightsholders are prohibited while the rightsholder is on the air or the game is in progress. Radio stations and assigned correspondents for out of town reports are allowed to give inning or half inning score updates. At no time can they file reports once play is under way. Any violation of these policies will result in immediate revocation of credentials.

CELLULAR PHONES: The use of cellular phones is prohibited on the field or in either clubhouse. The only time a radio correspondent can use a cellular phone for an interview would be in either dugout after receiving advance permission from the player or staff member. Any other telephone interviews must be arranged through the Diamondbacks' Public Relations Department.

ROVING CAMERAS: Television stations are prohibited from using a camera light in the seating area of the ballpark. Should a light come on, the game could be stopped by the umpiring crew and any stoppage in play due to a camera light will result in revocation of the credential. Separate credentials will be available for "roving" the stands prior to games. For the comfort of our fans, interviews are to be conducted on the concourse, not in the stands while the game is in progress.

WORKING PRESS BOX: The press box at Chase Field is located directly behind home plate. The writers' wing is on the first base side, while the broadcast booths are behind the plate and towards the third base side. The front row of the Working Press Box is for members of the BBWAA. All electronic media seats are in the second and third rows. Game notes and statistics will be available for pick-up at least two hours before game time in the area immediately behind the working press box. The Diamondbacks also offer additional working space, with television monitors, in the area behind the press box. A fax machine and copier are available in the press box should the need arise. The press box is an active working area and cheering and loud conversation will not be permitted. At no time will guests be permitted in the press box. The Arizona Diamondbacks prohibit any person under the age of 18 from entering the press box level on game days.

PRESS DINING: The press dining room is located behind the press box. As is consistent with all National League clubs, pre-game meals for the media will be available for a $10.00 charge, and will be served 2 hours prior to game time and up through the end of the first inning. Media members must be properly credentialed for admittance to the dining room.

PHONES FOR MEDIA: The Arizona Diamondbacks are fortunate to have an ample supply of Charge Call phones in the press box. If for some reason media members feel there are not enough lines available, they should investigate installing their own line for use during the season. To have a phone extension installed for the season, or for a single visit to Chase Field, please contact Vicki Berryman at (602) 462-6099.

Chase Field & Community Involvement

Chase Field

On September 23, 2005, the next era of Diamondbacks baseball was officially christened with a new name for the place the club calls home.

As a result of the merger between Bank One and Chase, all Bank One properties are now known as Chase, and that includes Chase Field, formerly Bank One Ballpark.

Owned by Maricopa County, Chase Field (seating capacity 49,033) plays a major part in making Downtown Phoenix the sports hub of the Valley of the Sun. Chase Field is bounded by Jefferson Street on the north, Fourth Street on the west and Seventh Street on the east, and is within easy driving distance of two major freeways (Interstate 10 to the north, Interstate 17 to the south).

Chase Field also holds the distinction of being the second-highest facility in the major leagues, sitting 1,100 feet above sea level. It trails only Denver's Coors Field in terms of elevation.

THE STRUCTURE

Ground was broken on Chase Field November 16, 1995, with the construction project taking 28 months at a cost of $354 million.

The facility was designed by Ellerbe Becket, with architect Bill Johnson as the design principal. John Wasson was the project manager for the Diamondbacks, with Huber Hunt & Nichols serving as the managing contractor.

Chase Field incorporates the traditional look of red brick and green structural steel in a setting that blends into its surroundings. Many of the building's design details are borrowed from the historic warehouse district that surrounds it. One former warehouse, the Arizona Citrus Growers' Packing House, is actually preserved and incorporated into the south façade of the building. Appropriately, that former food warehouse is used as a commissary for the ballpark's concession stands.

Among the additions for the 2006 season, Chase Field has the longest LED board in Major League Baseball, stretching from beyond the foul poles on the middle level. There has also been a new sound system added for fan enjoyment.

THE ROOF

Game in and game out, fans attending Diamondbacks games are always anxious to see the retractable roof in action before or after the game.

The roof comprises nine million pounds of structural steel, operating on the same tried-and-true technology found in drawbridges and overhead traveling cranes. A pair of 200-horsepower motors open or close the roof in slightly more than four minutes, utilizing more than four miles of cable strung through a pulley system. Each half of the roof consists of three moveable trusses, which telescope over a fixed-end truss. The east and west sides of the roof can operate either in unison or independently. Either side of the roof can be opened to any position in order to maximize sunlight on the turf and minimize sunlight on the interior steel and concrete.

The roof opens and closes to its own music, composed specifically to time out exactly to the four and a-half minutes needed to open or close the roof.

In 2005, the Diamondbacks played 50 games with the roof closed, 7 more than the previous season, while 31 were played with the roof open. The highest temperature for a game played with the roof open last season was 83 degrees (April 6, a night game versus the Chicago Cubs).

ROOF OPEN - ROOF CLOSED?

It's a major discussion point among fans on a daily basis - to open or not to open the Ballpark roof.

The decision is made on a game-to-game basis, and it depends on the outside conditions. In the early portion of the season, conditions are generally more favorable to opening the roof, not just because the air temperature is lower, but also because the air is drier, meaning the temperature drops rapidly after sunset.

Into the summer months, the famed Arizona monsoon adds higher humidity to the triple-digit temperatures, making it necessary to keep the roof closed. Even with that, there have been days where daytime cloud cover has kept the temperatures down, allowing for the roof to be opened that night.

The final consideration is the most basic – fan comfort. Day games are often played with the roof closed not because of the air temperature, but because of the sun. Chase Field is one of the few baseball venues whose field sits directly north-south. The intense sunlight makes conditions in the upper level uncomfortable even on days when the temperature is in the 80's. The decision whether to open or close the roof is ultimately based on what is best for all fans in attendance.
A hotline is available for fans to call in and get that day's "roof forecast". The number is 602-379-ROOF (7663).

THE FIELD

The playing field at Chase Field consists of Bull's Eye Bermuda, which has proven to be the best suitable grass for a facility with a retractable roof. A sign of that suitability is the fact that last season, 2,400 square feet of turf was replaced – a record low figure.

Even though more than half of the Diamondbacks' games are played with the roof closed, the turf receives sunlight at every opportunity. On game days, the roof remains open into the afternoon to allow maximum exposure. When areas of the field receive to little natural sunlight, large incandescent growth lights provide a substitute.

A visible feature of the field takes fans back in time almost 100 years. There is a dirt path between the pitcher's mound and home plate, reminiscent of the paths seen in very early pictures of the game.

The path is actually symbolic of the Chase Field experience – The best of baseball history and tradition displayed in a setting that features all the modern conveniences.

KEEPING COOL

Midway through the 2001 season, Chase Field became the beneficiary of the new Northwinds cooling system designed for highly populated facilities in Downtown Phoenix. The Northwinds system site is located directly south of the Ballpark.

The unique aspect of the system is that, while conventional cooling systems use cold water, the Northwinds system uses ice, which is produced on site during the overnight hours. The system starts with a base of three million pounds of ice. On a typical summer day, with no Diamondbacks game schedule approximately one million pounds will have to be reproduced. On a scheduled game day, the figure jumps to two million.

With the new system, the time needed to cool the ballpark is reduced, allowing more time for the roof to remain open, which in turn allows more sunlight on the grass.

SEATING AND TICKETS

Sightlines in Chase Field are second to none. More than 80 percent of the seats are inside the foul poles, and there is no upper deck around the outfield. What's more, the seats down the foul lines beyond the infield are slightly canted toward the infield so that no fan will have to twist his or her body to look toward second base and the pitcher's mound.

All lower-deck seating is directly accessible from the lower concourse, which is at the same level as the outside pedestrian entry plazas and gates. The concourse itself is open to the playing field so fans can stay in touch with the game while visiting the concession stands, merchandise stores or other amenities.

The Diamond Level provides exclusive locations and amenities. Lounges and dining areas serving approximately 4,400 club seats are featured. Above the club seats are 69 private luxury suites, which offer the utmost in comfort and catering.

The upper concourse seats approximately 20,000 fans. Escalators on the west side of the ballpark can take fans to either of the upper levels.

VERSATILITY

While it is primarily known for baseball, Chase Field has hosted a wide range of events in its eight years of operation. Not only has it been the home of the Diamondbacks, this spring it hosted the first round of the first-ever World Baseball Classic.

The list includes concerts, religious convocations, the Arizona National Boat Show and two annual motocross events. Chase Field has also served as the site of the Fiesta Bowl National Band Championship each of the last six years. Chase Field was also the site of the first-ever outdoor college basketball game, as Arizona State's women's basketball team hosted Tennessee on December 27, 2000.

Another category of competition was added to the Chase Field resume this past January with the arrival of the Professional Bull Riders tour.

Chase Field also served as the home of college football's Insight Bowl for six years. Operated by the Fiesta Bowl, the event brings together teams of the Big East and PAC 10 Conferences. This most recent Insight Bowl saw the local favorite Arizona State Sun Devils defeat Rutgers.

LESLIE'S POOL PAVILION

After eight years and over 20,000 visitors, the most talked-about feature of Chase Field got a new look in 2005. The new pool features a more functional use of space, allowing for greater flexibility and additional areas to view the game.

The pool and spa sit nearly four feet above the ground, allowing fans in the pool to enjoy an unobstructed view of the action on the field. Natural stone finishes, including canterra and flagstone create the look and feel of an Arizona backyard. The Pavilion also features a new private bar area, plasma televisions and plush patio seating.

The remodeling project, which included a complete demolition of the original pool, was completed in six weeks.

Located behind the outfield wall in right-center, the Leslie's Pool Pavilion sits 415 feet from home plate. This, of course, means home runs will occasionally find their way into the Pavilion. When a Diamondback homers into the Pavilion, water cannons fire streams of water 30 to 35 feet into the air.

For the trivia buffs, we offer this note: the first player to hit a home run into the Leslie's Pool Pavilion was Mark Grace. He hit the noteworthy homer as a member of the Chicago Cubs, on May 12, 1998.

FOOD

You name it, and you can find it at the nearly quarter mile of concession stands in the Chase Field concourses, but the dining experience begins before fans go through the Ballpark gates.

Fans entering Chase Field through the main gates will notice Sliders, located on the west side of the Ballpark Plaza. Sliders features a traditional menu of sandwiches, salads and pizza, and is a popular pre and post-game destination.

Among the concession stands on the concourses are those that feature McDonald's, Peter Piper Pizza, Blimpie's Subs and Garcia's Mexican Food. In addition, specialty ice cream, yogurt, smoothies, shaved ice and specialty popcorn are also available. Fielder's Choice offers fans a wide selection of fresh fruits and vegetables.

Both the upper and lower concourses feature Taste of the Majors, a concession stand which offers food items associated with each National League city.

One of the unique offerings is Big Dawgs, a stand featuring grilled foot long hot dogs with a variety of toppings that range from onion rings and French Fries to cole slaw.

Friday's Front Row Sports Grill continues to be a popular year-round destination for visitors. Friday's offers fine food and beverages, along with patio seating during Diamondbacks' games. The restaurant is open every day except Christmas.

The upper concourse features two Miller Lite beer gardens, which overlook the playing field.

The Arizona Baseball Club, located in right field on the Infiniti Diamond Level, provides fine dining and a spectacular view for fans with club seats or luxury suites.

PARKING

Chase Field utilizes the established Copper Square parking infrastructure for its guests. An attached 1,500-car parking garage provides parking for guests on the Diamond Level. Away from the park, downtown Phoenix offers some 33,000 parking spaces within a 15-minute walk of the Chase Field. The Diamondbacks estimate that about 15,000 spaces are needed to accommodate a sellout crowd.

Pedestrian access to Chase Field includes a bridge over the railroad tracks along 4th Street. The bridge is connected to the parking garage, and is equipped with elevators for the physically challenged.

The Copper Square location also makes getting to and from a game easier. Chase Field is located minutes from five major freeways, and will also be located along the route of the Metro Light Rail system, construction of which is already underway.

FOX SPORTS NET DIAMONDTOWN

Fans making their way along Chase Field's main concourse can experience baseball's history and tradition through Fox Sports Net's DiamondTown.

A graphic timeline and three-dimensional exhibits give fans 10 themed areas featuring the best of baseball and Diamondbacks history.

PETER PIPER PLAYHOUSE

Kids can find all kinds of entertainment, baseball and otherwise, at the Peter Piper Playhouse, located behind center field. The Playhouse offers fans a variety of games, similar to those found at Peter Piper Pizza locations, and gives fans of all ages a chance to meet Baxter in his home. Baxter appears in his "den" during each Diamondbacks' game to pose for pictures and sign autographs.

MUSIC

As is the case with the overall atmosphere of Chase Field, music at Diamondbacks' game is a blend of the old and the new. Bobby Freeman provides traditional organ music. Freeman also served as ballpark organist for the Pacific Coast League Phoenix Firebirds before joining the Diamondbacks in 1998.

Fans will find Bobby in the Main Team Shop prior to games, serenading fans, before moving to his press-level location during the game.

In addition to the organ, Diamondbacks' Audio Engineer Eric Hanson "plays the hits" through a brand new sound system. As is the case in many ballparks, Diamondbacks' players are serenaded with their favorite tunes as they come to bat or enter the field. Each player is asked to identify his favorite song, and Hanson works through his vast archives to find the tune.

Grant Trenbeath
Head Groundskeeper

In any aspect of baseball, consistency is important, and at Chase Field, the consistent excellence of the Grounds Crew, headed by Chase Field Head Groundskeeper Grant Trenbeath has always been appreciated by players, fans and Diamondbacks officials.

Trenbeath and his staff replaced a record-low 2,400 square feet of sod in 2005. That figure is a tribute to Trenbeath's continued dedication to his craft. It hasn't gone unnoticed among players, who ranked the Chase Field surface the second best in the National League in a 2003 poll commissioned by Sports Illustrated.

Trenbeath has been a pioneer in handling grass in a retractable roof venue. He has served as a consultant to other retractable roof venues in Major League Baseball, sharing his expertise on how to balance maintaining a strong playing surface with the need for fan comfort.

Trenbeath has worked in turf management for 12 years, spending three seasons with the Oakland Athletics' minor league affiliate in Medford, Oregon, then joining the A's as head groundskeeper for their minor league complex and spring training for three seasons before joining the Diamondbacks seven months prior to their inaugural season.

Trenbeath brings a player's perspective to turf management, having played baseball while attending Willamette University in Oregon. Grant, wife, Trina, and 1-year-old daughter Annika make their home in Chandler.

Diamondbacks in the Community

Established in 1997, before the Arizona Diamondbacks ever played a major league game, the Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation focuses on the three areas of need: homelessness, indigent healthcare and children's programs of all types, including education and youth baseball field development.

A board of Diamondback and Maricopa County appointees are responsible for annually approving all grant applications. Gifts are given through two different grant cycles. Program grants (gifts of $5,000 or less) are given to Arizona non-profits for program funding. The deadline for this application is December 15 of each year. The other is our Grand Slam Awards, gifts of $100,000 . The deadline for Grand Slam Awards is November 15 of each year.

The Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation generated over $1.8 million in 2005 to be distributed before the beginning of the 2006 season. Funds for the Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation are raised through events such as the annual Diamondbacks Foundation Golf Classic, "Shirts Off Our D'Backs," Broadcast Auctions and other team related activities.

The Arizona Diamondbacks take great pride in being recognized as a leader in community giving. Our commitment to the needs of our state will continue be a cornerstone of our corporate mission.

Education

The game of baseball requires athletic skills, teamwork and knowledge of the game. Playing sports also reinforces values of perseverance, character and self-confidence. These skills are important not only in the game of sports but in academics, relationships and life. The Diamondbacks set out to share these lessons with the community by hosting events and programs to remind youth and adults of the importance of education and setting goals.

Luis Gonzalez's "Kids Going Gonzo For School"

Luis Gonzalez and the Diamondbacks rewarded economically disadvantaged urban students for attendance, effort in school, and living by "Gonzo's Ground Rules." Partnering with Communities In Schools of Arizona and Teach for America, this program is also designed to support and develop quality teaching in areas of need. More than 120 classrooms and over 3,200 students are invited to attend a Diamondbacks game each year. Each child receives a T-shirt and a free meal. In addition, a lucky group of 50 students have the opportunity to meet Luis prior to the game and participate in an on-field pre-game ceremony.

Read Your Way To the Ballpark

Since 2000, the Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation and The Arizona Republic joined with 13 public library districts and 46 individual libraries in Maricopa County to present Read Your Way To The Ballpark, a summer reading program for children and their families. More than 90,000 kids participate in the program annually, which features a game board with incentive points as you start at your library and end up at Chase Field. Kids ultimately work toward winning a free ticket to a Diamondbacks game.

"Cover To Cover" Reading Program

This program is based on the Diamondbacks' goal to encourage kids to "finish what they start" and more specifically that children develop a commitment to, and passion for, reading. Each season, 1,400 students from 16 schools statewide participate in the program. The Diamondbacks host each school for a game, treating them to luxury bus transportation, a free meal, an autograph, a game ticket and a T-shirt..

Family Safety Weekend

Agencies and Fire Departments from across the state visit Chase Field for an annual Family safety weekend. Hundreds of firefighters attend this event to help educate the public about safety via presentations and hands-on demonstrations. Safety messages include: train track safety, fire safety tips and home escape plan, checking smoke detectors, CPR and information on bike helmets, car seats, seat belts and water safety.

The Great Bike Chase

The Diamondbacks know the importance of wearing a helmet when at bat and when on a bicycle. As part of a bike safety educational campaign, the Diamondbacks and Maricopa County's Clean Air Campaign host "The Great Bike Chase" where hundreds of cyclists ride their bicycles from Steele Indian School Park to Chase Field for a Diamondbacks game.

Diamondbacks Winter Classic

The Diamondbacks host an annual Winter Classic holiday party at Chase Field inviting children from local shelters to enjoy games, food and special visits from Diamondbacks players and Santa Claus. In partnership with George and Laura Duerr of Ashley Manor, each child also receives a gift and a nutritious lunch. Additionally, the Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation and Diamondbacks employees provide a brand new pair of shoes for each child.

Community Programs

The Diamondbacks sponsor a variety of programs throughout the year inviting members of the community, from children to senior citizens, to share in the excitement of baseball and instill a sense of community pride. Through teamwork, these programs have accomplished various missions that include improving the lives of those who are less fortunate and educating the community of important social issues.

Season Ticket Donations

The Diamondbacks donate more than 8,000 tickets per year to non-profit organizations and individuals who would not otherwise be able to attend a game due to financial or physical limitations. Diamondbacks season ticket holders also share in the spirit of generosity by donating any otherwise unused tickets to the Diamondbacks Community Affairs office. Through this unique donation program, thousands of additional tickets were distributed to underprivileged Arizonans.

Community Corner

The Diamondbacks teamed up with non-profit organizations and charitable causes to host Community Corner, a program that educates Chase Field visitors on a variety of issues. During home games, the Diamondbacks invite organizations to share information and help raise community awareness about their causes by having fans visit them at the Community Corner kiosk in the ballpark.

Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation Fundraising Events

Shirts Off Our D-backs

The Diamondbacks host this annual event during the last regular season home game. 40 lucky fans are presented with autographed jerseys from Diamondbacks players and coaches on field. Two-dollar scratch-off cards are sold throughout Chase Field raising, on average, more than $80,000 annually for the Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation and the Valley of the Sun United Way.

Diamondbacks Foundation Golf Classic

This event gives participants the opportunity to play golf at the exquisite Whirlwind Golf Club at Wild Horse Pass. Participants are treated to a one-of-a-kind experience - playing golf with Arizona Diamondbacks players and coaches.

Broadcast Auctions

The Diamondbacks hosted two broadcast auctions with one benefitting the Diamondbacks Foundation and the other benefitting the Muscular Distrophy Association (MDA). In May, $40,250 was raised to benefit the Diamondbacks Foundation, which supports community initiative statewide. In September, $22,740 was raised to support the work of MDA across the state.

The Diamondbacks Community Affairs office offers a variety of programs for the community. Fan mail and requests for player appearances, donations, and sponsorships must be submitted in writing, addressed to the following:

Arizona Diamondbacks
Community Affairs
P.O. Box 2095
Phoenix, AZ 85001

* Please note that the Diamondbacks are NOT able to accept items to be autographed.

Tony Clark signs autographs for youngsters prior to a game as part of his MVP Program.

Youth Baseball and Softball

The Diamondbacks have made a commitment to sharing with the community one of the skills they know best, baseball. Our players' dedication, enthusiasm and respect for the game are visible both on and off the field. Through our organization's community outreach efforts, we strive to revitalize the spirit of baseball and softball to youth in inner cities, renovate fields in underprivileged communities and provide support and training for junior athletes.

"Diamonds Back" Field Building Program

Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation implemented this program for constructing new and rebuilding current youth fields for baseball and softball. The fields are selected by the Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation based on need, usage, and ownership and maintenance abilities. Upon completion, fields are donated to an owner who will maintain the facility and regulate usage.

A baseball field can bring together neighborhoods and families. It is a place for making friends and making memories. It is a place for learning a game and learning lessons of life. Through the Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation, the "Diamonds Back" Field Building Program is committed to supporting and enhancing youth baseball in our state. This program's sole mission is to design and build youth ball fields so that more children can experience the great game of baseball. Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation, our Diamondbacks players and community partners such as APS are creating diamonds from dirt, and making a Major League difference in the lives of Arizona's youth.

Execution

Funding for the "Diamonds Back" Field Building Program comes from corporate sponsors, player participation and Arizona Diamondbacks Foundation Youth Baseball Fund, as well as in-kind and donated services and materials. A design and construction team will build fields, led by Nelsen Architects and Summit Builders as general contractor.

An application and selection process will determine most fields. Interested parties must complete and submit a "Diamonds Back" Youth Field application form. This application is also available for any smaller grants for youth baseball and softball needs. To request an application, write to Allison Gabel, Senior Community Affairs Coordinator, Arizona Diamondbacks, P.O. Box 2095, Phoenix, AZ 85001.

Fields may include: backstop, full fencing, dugouts, bleachers, bullpens, irrigation, fully turfed playing field, warning tracks, electric scoreboard, scorer's table and storage unit and lighting system. Projects will depend on existing infrastructure, needs and future funding.

Three more fields were added to the total last season with the dedication of Troy Glaus Field (Casa Grande), Shawn Green Field (Peoria) and Luis Gonzalez Field (Tempe). The total stands at 19 fields entering the 2006 season.

The Training Centers run concurrently with school vacation periods, including spring, summer, intersession and holiday breaks.

Little Leagues are given the opportunity to sell group discounted tickets to little leaguers and their families, with fundraiser rebates going back to each league. Participating Little Leagues and their uniformed players are invited to participate on the field at a Diamondbacks game for a pre-game parade, along with a ceremony and check presentation to the district.

Inter-tribal Invitational

To support baseball in the Native American Community, the Diamondbacks host their annual inter-tribal baseball tournament. This event brings together 34 teams from twelve Native America communities throughout Arizona and culminates in a presentation of the tribal communities at a Diamondbacks game.

D. Baxter the Bobcat

Mascot

Ht: 6-0 Wt: 200

Introduced: June 23, 2000

Residence: Baxter's Den at Chase Field

D. Baxter the Bobcat came out of the bag on June 23, 2000, at Chase Field. The idea for the mascot came from Brantley Bell, son of Diamondback bench coach and former second baseman Jay Bell, who explained to his dad that the team should have a "BOB" cat as a mascot since the team played in the BOB (Bank One Ballpark). Jay informed management about his son's idea and the mascot was developed.

Today, Baxter has gained acceptance throughout the baseball world for his athleticism and an infamous "fur" ball. In addition to his numerous game-day responsibilities, Baxter also serves as an ambassador for the Diamondbacks organization, venturing off the field to visit hospitals, schools, community festivals, and corporate functions throughout the Valley and the state of Arizona. During the 4th and 5th innings of every home game, Baxter can be found in his Den, signing autographs and taking photographs with all of his adoring fans. Baxter's Den is located in the Peter Piper Playhouse on the main concourse beyond centerfield.

For more information on Baxter, call (602) 462-6630.

Joe Black

On May 17, 2002, Major League Baseball and the Arizona Diamondbacks suffered a great loss with the passing of Joseph Black, Jr.. He began his playing career in the Negro Leagues and shuffled through various professional leagues before making his Major League debut in 1952 with the Brooklyn Dodgers as a teammate of Jackie Robinson. In his rookie season, Joe made baseball history when he became the first African-American pitcher to win a World Series game and was eventually named the National League Rookie of the Year.

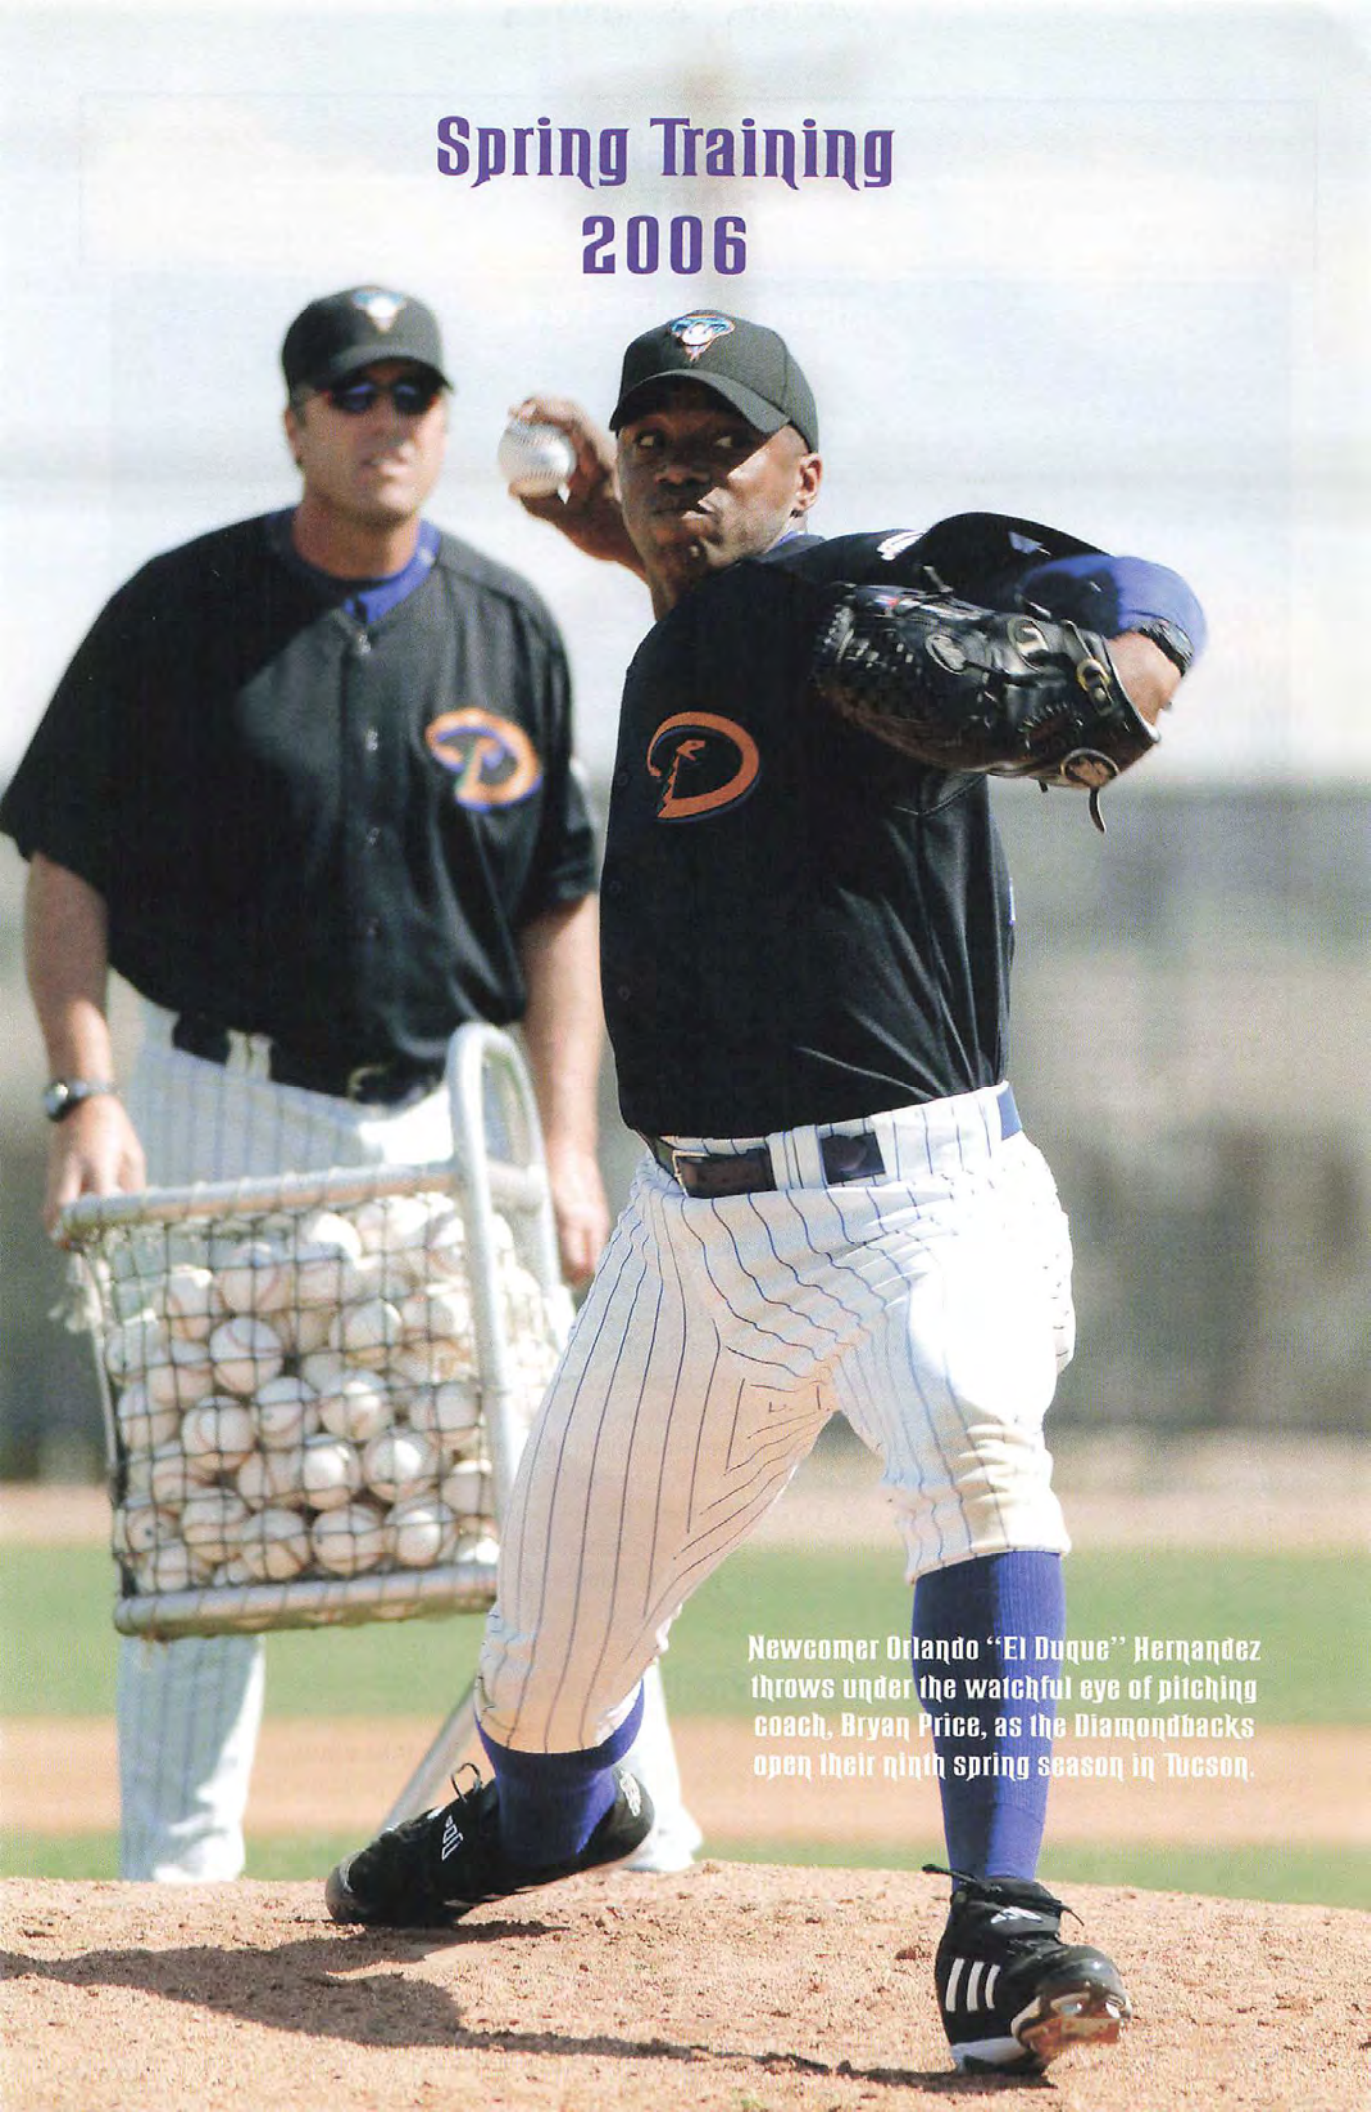
Joe remained an integral part of baseball following his playing days. As Vice President of B.A.T., the Baseball Assistance Team, he dedicated his time to helping fellow baseball players who had fallen on hard times. He contributed his vast knowledge of the game as a consultant to the Commissioner of Major League Baseball. A resident of Phoenix, he worked in the Diamondbacks' Community Affairs Department, sharing his stories as a guest speaker for numerous community groups.

Beyond baseball, Joe was a pioneer in the business world and worked tirelessly to impact the civil and human rights advancements for minorities.

In remembrance of Joe, a baseball bearing his name hangs from the rafters of Chase Field, along with the retired number of his former Brooklyn Dodger teammate Jackie Robinson.

The Arizona Fall League will honor Joe's memory with the Joe Black Trophy, awarded to the league's Most Valuable Player. Ken Harvey (Kansas City Royals) of the Scottsdale Scorpions was the inaugural honoree in 2002. Jason Dubois (Chicago Cubs) of the AFL-champion Mesa Solar Sox garnered the honors in 2003. Chris Shelton (Detroit Tigers) of the Grand Canyon Rafters was named the 2004 award winner. Eric Duncan (New York Yankees) of the Grand Canyon Rafters was last year's winner.

Spring Training 2006



Newcomer Orlando "El Duque" Hernandez throws under the watchful eye of pitching coach, Bryan Price, as the Diamondbacks open their ninth spring season in Tucson.

Spring Training 2006

Tucson Electric Park

The Diamondbacks and Chicago White Sox share Tucson Electric Park during the month of March, with thousands of fans from both the Valley and Windy City making the trip to the Old Pueblo for exhibition action. T.E.P. seats 11,000 which includes room for 3,000 fans on the lawn beyond the outfield fence.

The Diamondbacks not only have the good fortune of training less than two hours away from Chase Field, they work in one of the top-of-the-line spring facilities in baseball. Tucson Electric Park is the centerpiece of the Pima County Kino Sports Complex, that also includes six-field practice facilities for both the Diamondbacks and Chicago White Sox.

Tucson Electric Park has a capacity of 11,000, including 8,000 seats in the main grandstand and another 3,000 available on the outfield lawn. Also the summer home of the Tucson Sidewinders, T.E.P. features a major league clubhouse that the D'Backs use in the spring, and clubhouses for visiting clubs and umpires. The home clubhouse also has an indoor batting cage located on the lower level on the way to the playing field.

During the spring session, the Diamondbacks will dress daily in the major league clubhouse at Tucson Electric Park, while doing the majority of their work at the minor league complex across Ajo Way. Once the exhibition season begins, Arizona will take batting practice either on the stadium field, or on a diamond behind T.E.P., where the D'Backs also have a half-field for infield work.

The spring of 2005 marks the 60th year for spring training in the Tucson community, with the Cleveland Indians calling the Old Pueblo home from 1947-92. While the D'Backs and White Sox work at the Kino Complex, the Colorado Rockies took over Hi Corbett Field in 1993 and are in their 13th spring there.

Tucson Electric Park has a symmetrical playing surface, measuring 340 feet down each foul line and 405 to straightaway centerfield. The spring home for the Diamondbacks is located at 2500 East Ajo Way in Tucson.

DISABLED LISTS:

(1) 15-DAY DISABLED LIST--The minimum period of inactivity is 15 calendar days. There is no limit on the number of players that may be on the list at one time.

(2) EMERGENCY DISABLED LIST--The minimum period of inactivity is 60 calendar days. There is no limit on the number of players on this list at one time, but his list may only be used when the club is at the maximum limit of 40 players under control. Players on the 60-day list do no count against the 40-man roster.

EARNED RUN AVERAGE CHAMPION QUALIFICATIONS: To win the ERA title a pitcher must have at least as many innings pitched as the number of games scheduled for each club in his league that season and have the lowest ERA.

MAJOR LEAGUE YEAR: 172 days constitutes a full year of major league service.

PINCH HITTING: A player shall be considered a pinch-hitter only if he enters the game as a substitute batter and then only on his first time at bat, which must be before he becomes a fielder. If the team bats around in the inning and a pinch hitter comes up a second time, he will not be considered a pinch hitter the second time.

ROOKIE QUALIFICATIONS: A player shall be considered a rookie unless, during a previous season or seasons, he has:

(1) Exceeded 130 at bats or 50 innings pitched in the major leagues, or

(2) He is not the winning pitcher, and

(3) He qualifies under one of the following conditions:

(a) He enters the game with a lead of no more than three runs and pitches at least one inning, or

(b) He enters the game regardless of the count, with the potential tying run either on base, at bat, or on deck (that is, the potential tying run is either already on base or is one of the first two batsmen he faces), or

(c) He pitches effectively for at least three innings.

SUSPENDED GAMES: For the purpose of this rule, all performances in the completion of a suspended game shall be considered as occurring on original date of this game.

WAIVER REGULATIONS: From 30 days after the start of the season, players are available for claiming off waivers in reverse order of standings, at the time waivers expire. Otherwise, players are available for claiming off waivers in reverse order of standings at the close of the preceding season. With respect to trades, no waivers are necessary from 5 p.m. (ET) the after the scheduled end of the regular season through July 31. Waivers are necessary from August 1 through the day after the scheduled end of the regular season.

How to Figure

BATTING AVERAGE: Divide the number of at bats into the number of hits.

EARNED RUN AVERAGE: Multiply the number of earned runs by nine, take that number and pitched.

FIELDING PERCENTAGE: Divide the total number of putouts and assists by total chances (putouts, assists and errors).

MAGIC NUMBERS: Determine the number of games yet to be played, add one, then subtract the number of games ahead in the loss column of the standings from the closest opponent.

ON-BASE PERCENTAGE: Add the total of hits, walks and hit by pitches and divide by the total of at bats, walks, hit by pitches and sacrifice flies.

SLUGGING PERCENTAGE: Divide total bases by the total times at bat. (At bats do not include walks, sacrifices, hit by pitcher, or times awarded first base by interference or obstruction).

WINNING PERCENTAGE: Divide the number of games won by the total games won and lost.
